Moslem Uprising Feared; Many Reported Killed

Fighting Continues in Much of Palestine—Say Arab Leaders Have Lost Control—569 Dead and Wounded in Five Days—Accurate Check Impossible.

Jerusalem, Aug. 28 (AP).—A Moslem uprising throughout Palestine, Syria and Transjordania, with attendant horrors of fire and sword, loomed today unless British power in the middle east could quickly crush the rising spirit of unrest among the fanatical tribesmen.

The situation today seemed to have passed far beyond the original dispute between Arabs and Jews over use of the Wailing Wall, and observers generally here looked to Ibn Saud, mighty king of the Hedjaz, whose attitude could turn the scales one way or the other. It was considered certain that facts rapidly being assembled did not bear out the optimistic tone of official communiques.

These fixed the dead and wounded in the last five days' fighting between Jews and Moslem Arabs at 143 and 426, divided as follows: Killed, 46 Moslems, 4 Christians, 93 Jews. Wounded, 118 Moslems, 39 Christians, 269 Jews. It was added an accurate check of casualties was impossible.

Upheaval among the Transjordanian Arabs growing out of the Palestine fighting has become so violent the government has found it necessary to close the eastern Judean frontier against possible invasion by sympathetic Nomads, but armed Bedouins crossed the Jordan despite guards placed on the bridges.

The Beersheba tribes were said here to be arming and gathering by thousands for the northward march, which gave rise to fear of a clash with British soldiery at Hebron, scene Saturday of a massacre in which Arabs literally cut to pieces Jewish men, women and children. Refugees arriving from Transjordania said the situation rapidly was becoming worse.

May Lead to "Holy War".

Although the Jews thus far have been made the object of the Arab attacks the situation has become such that a few fanatical "holy men" might easily turn the fellahs—Moslem peasants—against the Christians and British rulers. Some idea of the widespread Moslem sympathy with the Palestine Arabs could be gleaned from the demonstration yesterday of 20,000 Moslems in the Jewish quarter of Damascus. Troops finally dispersed the tribesmen.

For Permanent British Government.

London, Aug. 28 (AP).—Well informed circles today expressed belief that the cabinet of Prime Minister MacDonald shortly would consider some form of inquiry into the origin of the Arab-Jewish fighting in Palestine.

It was understood some cabinet ministers even believed it would be wiser for the government to reconsider the entire question of Britain's responsibility in the Holy Land but this view was not supported generally.

In military circles it was expected, although not confirmed officially, a permanent military garrison would be established in Palestine.

The London Times broke its editorial silence on the matter to say after characterizing the fighting as "the outcome of a premeditated and organized movement:" "Our plain duties in Palestine are firmness and decision. Palestine is a test case. If we hesitate or change our accepted policy there we should soon have greater dangers confronting us elsewhere."

2,000 Marching on Jerusalem.

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 28 (AP).—Uncensored telephone advices to the Jewish Telegraph Agency early today said fighting between Jews and Arabs continued in much of Palestine, with the smaller colonies bearing the brunt of Moslem attacks.

"A day of heavy fighting with many new casualties and one dead passed in Haifa, Northwestern Palestine," it was said.

In the afternoon British marines fired on both Jews and Arabs in quelling a Moslem attack on the Jewish quarter. Two barracks were destroyed by flames, with no one to extinguish them.

Jerusalem was described as in grave danger, with 2,000 armed men, including Druse tribesmen, marching on the city. The Jewish colony, Motva, near Jerusalem, was in flames at the time of the telephone call.

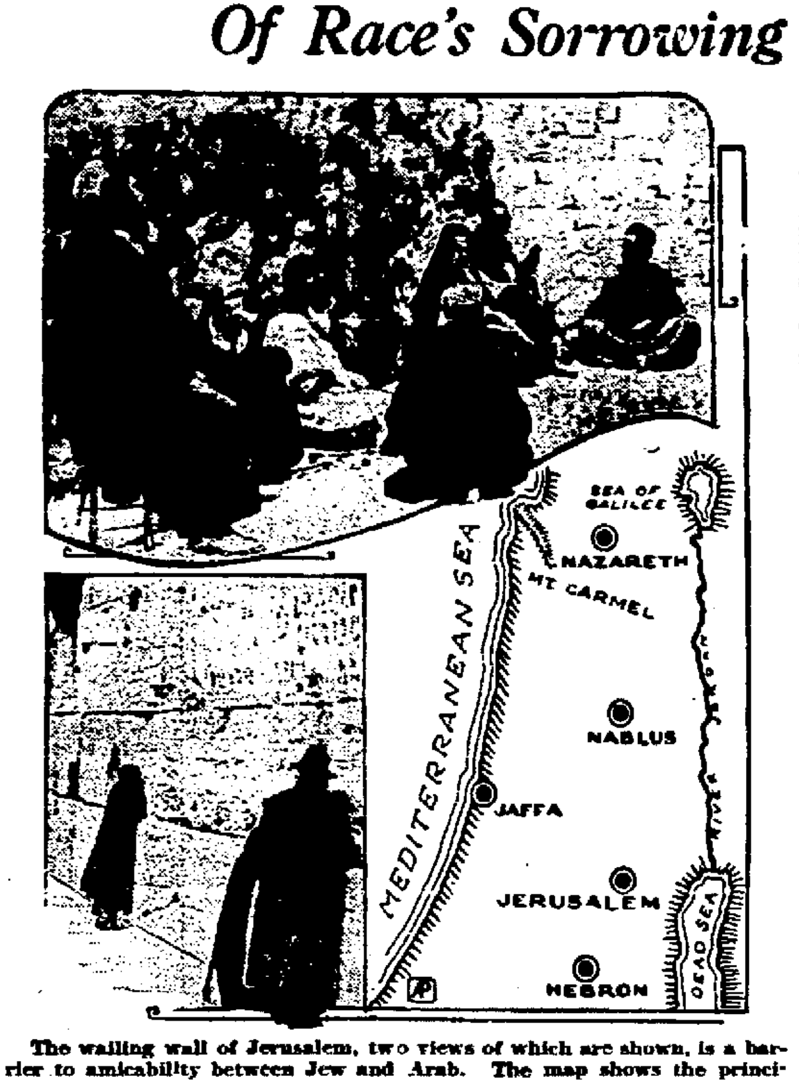
A part of the Colony Tel Joseph was burned down yesterday. Meier Shfaya, a settlement maintained by the Junior Hadassah, America Young Women's Zionist organization, sent an urgent appeal to the American Consul for help. A military detachment was dispatched there shortly afterwards.

Isaac Ben Zvi, leader of the Jewish Defence Corps, in a telephone message, said the corps was being disarmed and arrested. He expressed the emphatic opinion the Palestine government alone was responsible for the riots of the last five days. "We are certain," he declared, "that if the Palestine government had sent to patrol the Arab demonstrations on Friday at least the same number of police it sent to patrol the Jewish demonstration on Thursday order would have been maintained in the Holy city.

"It is the government of Palestine which alone is responsible for the horrible events. The Palestine government repeated its orders, 'Not to Shoot,' even when there were already more than 24 Jewish dead in Jerusalem alone. Even later the Palestine government did not assist the Jewish self-defense."

Paris, Aug. 28 (AP).—Oeuvre French daily, today said Arab leaders in Palestine had lost control of their partisans, who did not heed their appeals to reason. The paper said this appeared to be due to the fact the Arabs were provoked by young Israelites known as "Jewish Fascists."

Jewish Wailing Wall Worn Smooth In Ages Of Race's Sorrowing



The wailing wall of Jerusalem, two views of which are shown, is a barrier to amicability between Jew and Arab. The map shows the principal centers of the recent disturbances.

By Oscar Leiding
(Associated Press Feature Writer).

Washington (AP).—Crimson stains again color the wailing wall of Jerusalem, a sacrifice to the enduring faith of true believers measured out by wrathful Arabs.

Foreheads to stone for countless generations, until the roughhewn blocks have become smooth and shiny, the Jews lamented at this spot "for the majesty that is departed; for walls that are overthrown."

Center point of the clash between the Jews and Arabs over rights of religious worship, the Wailing Wall marks the nucleus of fighting which has spread through the Jewish quarter.

For the Moslem, the rocky barrier, towering 60 feet, is a retaining wall enclosing the dome of the rock, Mohammedan shrine and most sacred spot in the city.

For the Jew it is a buttress of Solomon's temple, erected a thousand years before Christ, and therefore a sacred heritage. During long years of Mohammedan dominion it was the nearest part of the sacred inclosure which a Jew dared approach.

In the narrow alley between the lofty wall and the low enclosure formed by backs of yards and Mograbin houses, Jews have gathered since the middle ages.

A desolate chant is repeated again and again as, on Friday afternoons and Saturdays, the Jews meet to wail for the ancient glories of the past.

"Because of the palace that lies desolate," a self appointed leader recites and the lamenters join in with the refrain, "We sit in solitude and weep."

The Wailing Wall is situated just outside the western wall of the temple in a quarter inhabited by Jews and many ink-black Mograbins from North Africa.

It is a place of peculiar desolation approached through devious paths, by winding stairs, vaulted passages and dirty lanes. Through the narrow side streets pilgrim and tourist alike have wended their way through tortuous turnings that lead to the place of racial lamentation.

The wall rises sheer as a cliff, fashioned of huge stone blocks, and between the unplastered crevices spring small sprigs of growing plants. Lower stones bear Hebrew inscriptions.

The barrier is believed to have been part of the substructure of the Jewish temple itself. The original temple was built by King Solomon on the summit of Mount Moriah, where it is said Abraham made his preparations for the sacrifice of Isaac, on a flat rock which later became the threshing floor of Ornan, the Jebusite.

State to Repair High Falls Bridge

The High Falls bridge across the Rondout creek, which was damaged sometime ago by reason of heavy loads which had been crossing it, is still closed to traffic pending repairs. County Attorney Robert G. Groves has been notified that the bridge which formerly was a town of Marbletown maintenance charge, is now under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Public Works and will consequently be repaired at state expense. The bridge has been taken over by the state and maintenance of the structure will be borne as a state charge, thus relieving the town of Marbletown of the cost of repairs.

It is expected that the state department will have repairs made as soon as possible to the structure. During the time the bridge is closed to traffic a detour by way of Stone Ridge and Cottekill is necessary in getting from the Rondout Valley in to High Falls and the Wallkill Valley.

Endurance Flyers Find It Chilly.

Syracuse, Aug. 28 (AP).—With continued fair weather, the Empire State standard circled over the New York state fair grounds here today piling up additional hours in pursuit of a new endurance refueling record. At 11:03:37 o'clock E. S. T. today the fliers, Clyde E. Pangborn and Carl A. Dixon, will have completed two full days in the air. The pilots dropped notes requesting heavier clothing.

Says Germany Cannot Accept New Agreement

The Hague, Aug. 28 (AP).—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German foreign minister, told the five creditor powers today that Germany could not make the sacrifice demanded of her in the agreement on the Young plan reached last night.

The German foreign minister announced the German position at a meeting this morning to consider the agreement reached last night giving Great Britain between 70 and 80 per cent of the demands made by Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the Exchequer.

This agreement was tentative, Germany's acquiescence being necessary, since it involved Germany's surrender of its share in the surplus of the Dawes plan payments between April and September of this year over the payments called for in the Young plan.

The chief of the Reich's delegation said the Germans in Paris had gone to the limit of their country's possibilities when they accepted the schedule of annuities under the Young plan. They were now asked to make another sacrifice in order to facilitate an accord among the creditors as to the distribution of reparations money which after all does not concern the German government.

He set up a definite claim to a share in the surplus of the Dawes plan payments over the Young annuities from April to September.

In the face of this new check to the progress of the conference and what had promised a complete agreement by compromise it was decided that the German and creditor experts go over the figures submitted by Dr. Stresemann. Meanwhile the delegates took a recess until later in the afternoon.

Despite the apparent setback, the general feeling at this morning's meeting was that an agreement would be possible with Germany at the expense of some concessions and there was some talk of a full session tomorrow to wind up the conference.

Sewers, Streets, Lights and Signs

Those Were Matters Considered at Public Works Board Meeting—No Title to Part of Lindsley Avenue—Board Held Brief Session.

That the city has no claim to that portion of Lindsley avenue, northeast of the boundary line of the Cordts estate and extending to the line of the Terry Brick Company, was the opinion of Corporation Counsel Harry H. Flemming as submitted to the board of public works at the regular monthly meeting of the board on Tuesday evening at the city hall.

The question had been referred to the corporation counsel when Mrs. John N. Cordts had lodged a complaint to the Hutton Company obstructing Lindsley avenue where it extended beyond her property line. The corporation counsel submitted a lengthy written report in which it was set forth that in June of 1926 the Hutton Company had purchased a sixteen acre tract of land from the Newark Lime & Cement Company.

The records show that no part of this parcel of land had been intended for street purposes, and that that part of what is known as Lindsley avenue had been used by the old cement company and that at certain times it had blocked it to public traffic by the use of a chain. At no time had the cement company conveyed any of the land to the city for street purposes and the city had never done any repair work on it.

Under the facts as ascertained the corporation counsel in his report stated that the facts as they appear do not justify a claim upon the part of the city in and to that portion of Lindsley avenue northeast of the Cordts estate boundary line and extending to the line of the Terry Brick Company.

The report was filed. It was stated that a copy of the report had been mailed to Mrs. Cordts.

North Manor Avenue Sewer.

North Manor avenue residents filed a petition with the board asking for the construction of a sanitary sewer in the northerly end of the avenue and also that a storm water sewer be constructed from the entrance of the driving park to a connection with an existing sewer on the line between the Gildersleeve and Newcombe properties. The petition was referred to the street committee and city engineer.

The Spring Street Sewer.

The board adopted an ordinance for the construction of a sewer in that part of Spring street extending from Ravine street to a point 481 feet south.

This sewer is already under construction. At the point where the sewer starts Spring street runs up a rather steep incline from Ravine street. There are a number of houses on that section of Spring street and as a sanitary measure the construction of the sewer was necessary.

Mr. Hyde Wanted to Know.

Clarence Hyde, who resides on Reynolds street, appeared before the board and stated that since he had built a house on that street several years ago he had been endeavoring to have the city do something with the street, and while he had been given many promises nothing had ever been accomplished.

Reynolds street extends from Wynkoop Place to Stanley street. Nine houses have been built on the street, which has never been graded.

After hearing Mr. Hyde the board directed the city engineer to furnish Mr. Hyde with an estimate of the cost of grading and topdressing the street. Where an unimproved street is graded and topdressed it is necessary for property owners to pay 75 per cent of the cost of the work.

Maps for Electric Company.

The board also directed City Engineer G. Wallace Codwise to furnish the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company with two blue prints of the city streets so that the electric company could designate on the maps the present existing circuits for street lights.

The electric company has submitted a proposed new contract for street lighting to the board. Under its provisions the cost of street lights will be reduced but where new lights are to be installed the city is to pay $35 for every thousand feet or part thereof of wire stretched from existing circuits to the location of proposed new lights.

Requests for Signs.

The William D. Ryan Oil Company asked permission to install an electric sign at its gas station at Washington and Hurley avenues, and a similar request was received from the Ulster Gasoline Coin O'Mat Company to install a sign at the gas station at the corner of Albany and Flatbush avenues. Both requests were referred to the street superintendent with power.

Other Matters.

A resident of North Fairview avenue requested that a street light be installed on that street. The request was referred to the lighting committee. Resolutions from the common council were read and referred to the various committees of the board.

Bills and claims were read and referred to the auditing committee.

Mayor Dempsey presided at the meeting with Commissioners Amos Van Etten and E. E. Fessenden in attendance.

Gov. Roosevelt Submits Figures On Tax Relief

State of New York Executive Department

To the Taxpayers of Ulster County:

Because they have such a direct bearing on county and local taxes and expenditures, and so vitally affect your tax bills, I venture to present some simple figures showing what the new legislation, generally known as the Farm Relief Program, has accomplished for you.

A new law enacted this year relieves your and other counties from contributing 35 per cent of the cost of completing the state highway system. This saves your county this year $175,000, and in ten years, it will save you $1,270,000.

Another new law relieves the towns and villages from contributing toward the upkeep of improved highways in the state highway system. That saves this year to taxpayers in Ulster county towns and villages, $10,985. This will be a continued yearly saving.

The direct state tax on property was eliminated this year. Measured by last year's direct state tax, that saves you $42,657.

Two other laws were enacted this year which will give tax relief to all Ulster county taxpayers, but I am unable at the present moment to express in dollars and cents the benefits accruing to Ulster county. They will, however, be sizeable. One of these laws equalizes the burden of school taxes and gives relief on a state-wide basis of about $3,000,000 per year. The other reduces from 10 per cent to 1 per cent the counties' shares of the cost of grade crossing eliminations. This will save, on a state-wide basis, $2,801,133 this year.

In other words, it is now known that the Farm Relief Program, which was in effect a rural tax relief program, will save to Ulster county taxpayers this year $228,642 plus sizeable amounts for rural schools and an uncertain amount for grade crossing elimination. This yearly saving will continue in succeeding years.

This is the first step, and a very definite one, as I am sure you will agree. I am vitally interested in seeing this tax relief passed along to you. Whether or not you receive the full benefit depends upon your board of supervisors and other local officials. If this benefit is passed on, your taxes should be materially lower. If, on the other hand, the board of supervisors and town and village officials increase local expenditures for other purposes, a considerable portion or the whole of this saving may disappear.

In the final analysis, the great majority of your taxes go not into the state treasury but for local expenditures, and I am sending this letter to the taxpayers of Ulster county, with the hope that they will take an increased interest in their local expenditures and, especially, in the decision reached by your local governing bodies as to how this very substantial saving will be used in your county in this and succeeding years.

Respectfully yours,
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

TWO MORE AUBURN ROAD CAMP PRISONERS ESCAPE

Auburn, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP).—John V. Rooman of Buffalo and George S. Ryan of Corning were missing when the breakfast count of the Auburn State Prison today, was taken at the Venice road camp. Apparently they made good their escape during the night.

A one-ton truck owned by the town of Venice was reported missing and it was believed the prisoners used this truck in escaping.

Rooman was doing two to five years for grand larceny, having been received at the prison December 10, 1927. Ryan was serving a sentence of five years for grand larceny, second degree, second offense. He was received October 15, 1926.

THE UNION FOREVER, DIDN'T SAVE HIM FROM A FINE.

Chicago, Aug. 28 (AP).—The union forever, hurrah, boys, hurrah, was James Cummings's argument to Magistrate James Feron in Oak Park.

Cummings had been peddling hand bills without a license, which is against Oak Park law. He told the magistrate he distributed the bills because "you gotta do what the union says".

"If the union told you to come out here and shoot me, would you do it?" the court demanded.

"I gotta do what the union says," repeated Cummings.

"And I," said the magistrate, "'gotta' do what the law says. Two dollars and costs."

Dempsey Suspended by Equity.

New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—Jack Dempsey was on the suspended list of Actors' Equity today, charged with disloyalty to the organization during its recent unsuccessful effort to unionize actors in sound and talking films. Equity Council, which suspended Dempsey, refused to explain its action. Dempsey's wife, Estelle Taylor, also a member of Equity, was not suspended.

Tropical Disturbance Over Key West.

Lawatch Guilty And Fines are Paid

Anthony Lawatch was found guilty Tuesday in Justice Jennings's court in the town of Ulster of reckless driving of an automobile and of failing to stop or report the series of collisions on the Plank Road in which he forced several cars off the road, causing considerable damage to one or two of them. He was fined $5 on each count, a total of [illegible] which was paid. In consideration of Lawatch having made compensation for the damage done the fines were made low.

This is the case which someone representing himself to be Justice Speers tried to "keep out of the paper" and lied to The Freeman about, saying it had been settled and the complaint withdrawn. Lawatch has been in trouble before for reckless driving and had his license suspended. It will probably be suspended again.

Judge Speers Explains.

The following explanation was written by Judge Speers after the editor of The Freeman had refused to contradict the truthful statement made in this paper on Tuesday:

On Monday evening, August 26, I called Mr. Harder by phone and talked to him in regards to withdrawing complaint against A. Lawatsch he told me his lawer told him to get the $50 first before doing anything. The $50 was paid to him Tuesday morning & he agreed to withdraw charges. It was not untruthful information as agreement between Mr. Harder and myself was satisfactory. I hold receipt Mr. Harder signed for expenses done to his car.

ALEX. SPEERS.

Judge Speers exhibited the receipt, which is merely a receipt for $50 in full payment for damages to Mr. Harder's car, and nothing more—a bar to recovery of damages in a civil action but, of course, carrying no word or promise of immunity from punishment for violation of the laws of the state of New York that provide proper punishment for those who make life and property unsafe by reckless driving on the highways.

IN CUBAN FORTRESS; HAS CLAIMS OF $9,000,000

Havana, Aug. 28 (AP).—Joseph E. Barlow, American resident of Havana, with claims totaling $9,000,000 against the Cuban government, was in a cell in Principe Fortress today. The charges against him still were to be made known.

When Barlow, who is 67, returned here from the United States July 20 it was said he would be deported. Cuban Ambassador Ferrara at Washington previously had recommended that action to his government, alleging insanity.

Barlow, contended his arrest was illegal and added that "even if bail had been offered I could not have taken advantage of it, for I have very little money." He was once one of Cuba's richest men.

Mrs. Barlow, a former Atlanta society woman, sent cablegrams to Secretary of State Stimson and United States senators and congressmen asking their aid.

Barlow's trouble rose out of his claims for Havana property worth about $9,000,000, which he contended he purchased from the heirs of the original beneficiaries of the land to whom it was conveyed under a Spanish grant about four centuries ago.

The extent of the land was said to have been defined in court as "as far as a dog's bark can be heard." The Cuban government never recognized the claim and charged Barlow paid only $55 for the property for which he sought $9,000,000.

AUTO CRASH VICTIMS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

The condition of Mrs. Clifford Cole, who was injured in a motor car accident near Stone Ridge on Sunday night, is still serious. Lemuel Atkins, who was also injured remains very ill. He is suffering from a compound fracture of the skull. Frederick Brand of 50 Schaffer street, Brooklyn, who was riding with Mr. Atkins, received a fracture of the jaw. Due to the seriousness of the injuries sustained by both drivers no accurate information has been received as to how the accident happened or what caused the two cars to come together.

Entombed in Mine.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Aug. 28 (AP).—Rescue crews today were penetrating the wrecked interior of number 8 shaft of number 9 colliery, Pennsylvania Coal Company, at Hughestown, near here, in search of two entombed men, Martin Golden, Hughestown, and Joseph Pupler, of Dupont. There was little hope that the men will be found alive. One man was killed and about a score other miners injured in the gigantic squeeze of yesterday afternoon.

Bremen Lands in France.

Cherbourg, France, Aug. 28 (AP).—The German liner Bremen arrived here today, completing the Atlantic crossing in 4 days 15 hours and 42 minutes under normal weather conditions. Ten thousand letters were rushed to Germany by the ship's mail plane, which was catapulted ninety miles west of here. Eight passengers from the Bremen flew from Cherbourg to Le Bourget, where they planned to transfer to another plane for Germany.

Zeppelin Leaves Kansas City And Heads for Chicago

Kansas City, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Graf Zeppelin reached the southwestern outskirts of Kansas City at [illegible] a. m., C. S. T. today.

The giant ship, after entering the city with its nose pointed almost due east, swung around in a circle to the south as it reached the business district. A dozen airplanes hovered around the air monster.

After circling the city, the dirigible struck a course northeast, apparently heading on a beeline for Chicago. It disappeared into a murky, heavily clouded sky at 9:50 a. m.

Reports after the Graf Zeppelin departed from Kansas City confirmed the belief that Dr. Eckener was steering in a beeline for Chicago in an effort to make up time lost in the passage from Los Angeles to Kansas City.

Dr. Eckener radioed officials of the air exposition yesterday that his ship would reach Cleveland about noon today, but adverse winds and electrical storms, encountered early last night, retarded progress to such an extent that it appeared the ship would not be able to reach Ohio until late evening.

According to the original schedule of the northern route selected by Dr. Eckener, the dirigible will fly from here to St. Louis, then to Chicago, from which place it will make a bee line for Cleveland and Lakehurst.

Encounters First Storm.

Encountering its first storm after leaving Los Angeles at 2:14 a. m., C. S. T., yesterday, an electrical disturbance between San Diego, Cal., and Yuma, Ariz., the big ship nosed down the eastern ridges of the Rocky Mountains, once more victorious over the elements. In midafternoon the dirigible passed over the Continental Divide of the Rockies, then, bucking headwinds, flew over Arizona and New Mexico, arriving at El Paso at 5:13 a. m., C. S. T.

After hovering over the west Texas city for fifteen minutes, the Graf dropped across the international boundary line into Mexico. A few minutes later it reverted to its eastern course, following the Texas and Pacific railway line to Sierra Blanca, Texas. Finding small but vicious storms in its path, Dr. Eckener there turned north, abandoning an announced intention to visit Fort Worth. After crossing a corner of New Mexico the ship lined across the Texas Panhandle, entering Oklahoma's southwestern corner. The dirigible followed a compass course through Oklahoma.

SHOOTS FORMER PARTNER AND THEN KILLS SELF

Deposit, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP).—The mother of three children today was the only member of a "triangle" alive today.

Chester Fields, 28, of Afton killed Norman Price as the latter sat in a car here with Fields' wife, yesterday. State Troopers declared Mrs. Fields had been living with Price for two weeks at Stilesville, Chenango county. Price formerly was associated with Fields in the cattle dealing business.

Yesterday, Troopers said, Mrs. Fields persuaded Price to drive her here. Fields came here in search of the two. He parked his car behind Price's. His wife got out of Price's automobile and an argument followed. When Price returned Fields ran to his own car, siezed the rifle and shot Price dead.

Then he leaped into his automobile and fled to North Sanford, seven miles away. Troopers, following quickly, found him oy the roadside there, a bullet through his head.

PROMOTE POLICEMAN WHO FACED GANGSTERS

New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—James H. Quigley, Brooklyn policeman who yesterday faced gun fire to rescue Fred Redcay from a gangster attack, today was promoted to a first-class detective by Police Commissioner Whalen. The promotion carries with it a $1,000 annual increase in pay.

Quigley, who has been on the force 37 years, drove off Redcay's attackers, killing one of them, who was unidentified. It was the first time he had fired a shot in the line of duty.

The policeman was on his vacation and was sitting on the front porch of his home when he heard Redcay call for help.

Redcay, a hosiery factory superintendent, blamed labor troubles for the attack.

AUTOMOBILES CRASH ON PLANK ROAD.

A collision between the cars of Paul Joyce of West Hurley and Ward D. Oakley of Paterson, N. J., took place on the Plank Road a short distance beyond the Sawkill road junction Tuesday evening. No one was injured but the cars were damaged. The sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Sheriff Ralph Constable went to the scene. Word of the accident was also sent to the State Troopers but the cars had left when the Trooper arrived and he continued to Shokan before giving up the search for the wreck. The left front fenders of both cars were damaged and there was a considerable amount of talk as to who was to blame for the accident.

Walker Erects a 6-Plane Hangar

Louis Walker has just completed the construction of a six-airplane hangar on the flying field of the Kingston Airport. The hangar is constructed of galvanized iron, and is lighted by electricity. The hangar has been built large enough so that it can house six airplanes.

Workmen are now busy painting the roofs of the two buildings on the airport. The word "Kingston" is painted on one side of the roofs and the word "Airport" on the other so that the lettering is plainly visible to any aviator aproaching the flying field from any direction.

The aiport is located just over the Washington avenue viaduct and comprises part of the properties of Louis Walker and of Emerson H. Powell.

Convenient for husbands—but how about their wives?

IN thousands of towns throughout the country, this scene is duplicated every day. A parking space or public garage filled with cars used in business, while the other members of their owners' families are marooned at home.

A second car would make their day so much easier and pleasanter. And almost any family can afford a second car by picking out a used car from the stocks of General Motors dealers.

Their sales of new cars are so large; they accept so many cars in trade—often with mileage scarcely touched—that you can find cars of every size and type in their showrooms.

Used cars are low-cost
, unused transportation

Every day more and more families are discovering that they can afford a second car in this way. The prices are amazingly low.

And a General Motors dealer enables you to enjoy the car you like immediately through the convenient GMAC Plan of purchase.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Grace J. Austin.

Much of the old music for songs used to be written for singing with voices in unison. Later chorus music was in "four part songs" for singing school use—those singing schools which two generations ago offered some of the social opportunities of the present "movies." Something like this has happened in costume planning. There was once upon a time a great belief in unison in color to be worn. Dame Fashion remembers a journey made at nineteen from Washington to Ohio, when there was a bride near her in the sleeper. She was quite talkative, telling of "quarts of rice thrown," and finally lifting modestly her long dress skirt of rich dark green wool material, so that her high shoes might be seen, made from the same green cloth, "to order." The more carefully matched the accessories, the more satisfied the bride or traveler felt with her apparel.

Today the "four part song" is nearer the ideal, in costume harmony. Bathing suits, pajamas, lingerie, morning dresses, sports wear and party gowns of all varieties take to many colors as joyfully as did Joseph's coat. When these many colors have the names of pretty flowers and gems, just the description of a gown becomes almost a line of poetry; as for instance, a "formal" compounded of tulle in shades of Parma violet, cyclamen pink and turquoise.

Paris, even Paris, has seemed to decide that the backless suits for daytime wear have not been a success. Tanning is good, but women may decide that it is possible to have too much of a good thing. Nobody seems to have worried over the backless suits very much, one way or the other. There were always many to whom they did not appeal, and those who did try them, either for bathing or sports wear, caused no sensation. A voyage to the South Sea islands may be a romantic thing, but it is hard to believe that American women and girls are really sighing to be South Sea islanders. Indeed, as the summer advanced, Paris, which will always use black for everything from little baby's dresses to grandmother gowns, if it has half a chance, declared that the most popular bathing suit was a black one, embroidered with flags of different nations. Whether the D. A. R. and the secretary of war would approve of the stars and stripes worn on a bathing suit scarcely needs discussion.

No girl has a "beau" in these days. That word is as extinct as the dodo. But every girl and woman surely has "bows" on her dresses. Looking the other day at a large number of the newest of the new gowns, it was found that out of every ten, six had bows in various spots of the dress anatomy. Some were bows of the trimming material, some were cloth bows of the dress material, some were combined of the two so that both appeared in the bow when tied. Several were soft bows down from collars, some were tied at the side, as low as the hip-line, some may be at the back of the neck,—but at any rate, a dress without its bow begins to look lonely.

Perhaps women have taken another leaf from the man's book. For a man without a tie may feel comfortable, he may feel athletic, but without his necktie bow he never feels really dressed.

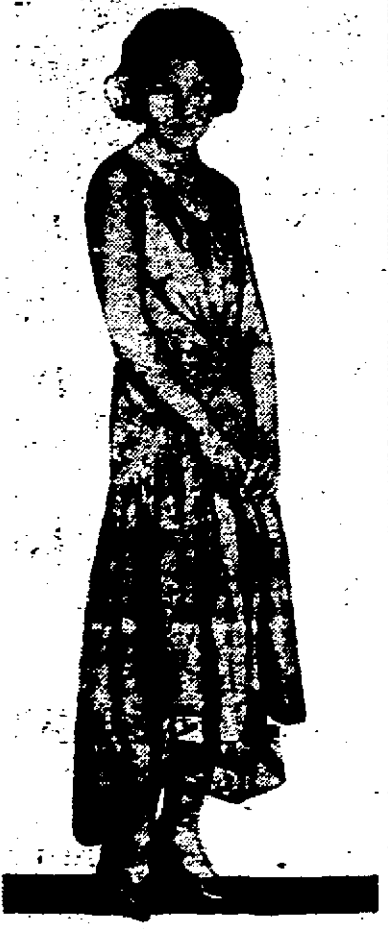
Swathed Hipline Adds Note of Chic to Gown



The swathed hipline shown in this charming and youthful evening frock is achieved by an intricate row of shirring. A large taffeta bow is caught at the side of the descending waistline.

Bird Foster Mothers

The bob white is now being bred successfully at a number of experiment stations, notably at the state game farm in Virginia. The quail eggs are set under bantam hens, which take good care of the little wild birds when hatched.

PROPAGANDA.

Recently when representatives of the Association Opposed to Blue Laws requested a personal hearing from the President they were not received and it was explained that the White House doors are not open to propaganda organizations because calls on the President, which are "singularly public in nature," should not be exploited as opportunities to broadcast propaganda. Later when the same organization wrote a letter to the President and handed a copy to the press it was returned from the White House unread on the ground that to release a letter for publication before it reached the President ignored "the same courtesy that is universally accorded between ladies and gentlemen in such matters." Thus it was implied that the conventions of private life govern White House correspondence but calls there must be governed by conditions peculiar to public life—the reason for which difference is not altogether clear.

A rule against receiving letters already published is workable, but the refusal of audience to propaganda organizations will involve difficulty because it calls for decision as to just what is objectionable propaganda and what is not. There is propaganda of which some approve and some disapprove, but propaganda in itself is simply effort to further a cause or policy, and in one way or another every man in Congress and every official from the President down is making such effort almost continually. Every Congressman who calls at the White House to talk about a measure he has in view is a propagandist, but the doors can not be closed to him. How is Mr. Hoover going to separate the innocent from the guilty, except on the ground that he favors propaganda of one movement but not of another?

THE HOLLYWOOD DIET.

During several years physicians have frequently denounced the prevalent effort to "reduce", and of late the medical guns have been turned particularly against the "Hollywood diet". This diet, dearly beloved of no-longer-so-young movie actresses and guaranteed to "reduce" at the rate of a pound a day, is said to consist largely of lettuce, grapefruit, tomatoes and similar foods—sweets, butter, fats and starches being rigidly excluded. The Hollywood diet is said to work, but the physicians object that, in addition to slimness, it results in great increase in cases of acidosis, jaundice, anemia and similar ailments arising from malnutrition, as well as ill effects on the nervous system. According to the information bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine, the Hollywood diet is "far too strenuous for the average person" and therefore it is fortunate that "few people can abide long by its Spartan restrictions."

But are there any limits to self-denial when beauty is in view? It would seem that the doctors may as well try to stop the wind with talk as to attempt to stay the efforts to "reduce" in these times. Gone are the days when a philosophically resigned lady can expect to influence her intimates (as one formerly did) with the advice: "Aw, let your figure go and be comfortable." A "figure" distinguished for slimness is now the all-important aim, is valued above comfort or even health, and must be achieved even at the risk of serious disease.

HELP FOR THE PROSPEROUS.

One is reminded of Poor Richard's maxim that Providence helps those who help themselves on reading the announcement that the Federal Farm Board, with the cooperation of California banks, will advance nine million dollars to the raisin and grape growers of that state. The same principle may be noted in the Board's explanation that it was influenced to make the loan in part by the "greatly improved statistical position of the grape industry". Apparently this is official recognition of long-standing reports that the industry is very flourishing. Although California is Mr. Hoover's home state, surprise has been caused by this first large advance of the farm relief board's funds to a prosperous industry. If such help had been extended eight or ten years ago it would have been better understood, for at that time the California grape growers were loudly bemoaning their coming ruin by prohibition. Since then, however, they have discovered their mistake and have prospered beyond all precedent, owing to the country-wide demand for their product by our home-brewing millions.

Middle western farmers, with no grapes to help them, with mortgages falling due, and with their waiting palms held out toward Washington, must have been more or less stunned by the news. For, like most of us, they were under the impression that federal farm relief was intended for the needy, that the sections known to be in trouble would get it, and that California's smiling vineyards, already richly fertilized with home-brewers' cash or checks, would not even have the assurance to ask for it.

Mrs. Coolidge is an exceptional woman in more ways than one. In a magazine article she states she is "rather proud of the fact" that her husband reaches his decisions without consulting her or giving her any advance information. She illustrates by relating that he did not even tell her beforehand that he would not "choose to run" and the news reached her only after the published announcement. Instead of being "proud" many American wives would have been "mad."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

HOW CITY LIFE FATIGUES.

A recent newspaper article told of a country couple who journeyed some days to reach a large city to spend some time sight seeing.

One day was all they could stand and they departed for home, the noise, the hurry, the confusion proved too fatiguing.

Now what about folks who live in the city all the time?

Well there is no question but that living beside noises with which you become familiar, gradually educates your nervous system to become used to these noises, and your brain and your body gradually loses much of its tenseness.

Although your brain and your body becomes accustomed to the many other little annoyances of the city, does this mean that there is not waste of energy in overcoming them?

No.

You can't live in a city with its motor cars, busses, street cars, traffic rules and regulations, the noise of fire engines, sirens, the jostling of people, the crowding, the hurrying, without being "alert" all the time. This alertness is good for you if you are in good average health.

If, however, you are troubled in spirit, have aching eyes, teeth, or feet, have a little more work to do than you feel capable of doing, perhaps someone or something near you that is a constant annoyance, and in addition have to endure noise, bustle and confusion, then indeed your strength and energy is being sapped.

What is needed?

Something that will remove this tenseness, something that will relax you in mind.

And this relaxation of mind can best be obtained by securing relaxation of body.

How?

By doing the thing that you find relaxes you best.

Perhaps a picture show, a theatrical performance, a baseball game, an hour of devotion.

Best of all is to lie down and relax your body, breathing deeply as if exhausted.

This should induce sleep, and sleep is Nature's perfect method of securing relaxation.

Death Treasure

by R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: A dangerous situation faced Tom Grenofen—Professor Laxton was talking interminably inside the Grenofen home as Veronica's mysterious fugitive drove up in a taxi. Tom meets the man who is to be known as Cousin John Merrypeacher during his visit, a strange figure in dishevelled clothes, hair clipped close to his head, many days' growth of beard on his face. Cousin John is alarmed at sight of Laxton through the uncurtained window and hides in the shrubbery until the professor leaves. Only then does he enter the house and almost immediately asks Tom to place a dilapidated bag, which he is carrying, into the safe, explaining to his astounded host that its contents are tremendously valuable.

Chapter 15

THE BLACK BAG

AFTER his first hesitation, Cousin John made the startling request in a matter-of-fact style, as if he were asking us to take care of his umbrella.

*It is not easy to describe the ef*fect of the announcement, by a man with a head cropped as his was, that he had a secret of apparently momentous value in an old black bag.

Even my mother was taken back for a moment. But she recovered her aplomb.

Cousin John pointed at his black bag—packed with its ominous secrets.

"Oh?" said she. "Tom will see to that and he'll look you out some things, Cousin John."

"Thank you, Mrs. Grenofen. You ask no questions. You take me on trust. You are splendid. If gratitude——"

"Oh, don't!" cried my mother. "Go along with Tom."

"Bring the bag this way," said I, and he followed me into the studio.

I do not know what use the previous owner had made of this room, but he had built a steel safe into the wall. My guest watched the black bag deposited and locked up, and uttered a little sobbing noise.

"At last," he said. But the words were addressed to himself.

I took him to the bathroom. There he caught sight of himself in the big glass. I thought he would fall as he staggered back against me. Then he burst into uncontrollable oaths. I stole away, saying:

"You'll find some razors on the shelf if you want them. Come down to the dining room when you're ready."

"Mother!" I exclaimed when I found her. "What have we taken on?"

"Job of the good Samaritan, I suppose, Tom."

"But think! . . . Look at him! You can easily guess where he's been lately. And a bag of secrets——"

"Well? Did Veronica ask you to be good to him?"

"She did, and I would, of course." And then our common aversion from loquacity came into play.

Cousin John came down in a quarter of an hour, with his beard shaved and the refreshment of hot water upon him. It had made a great difference, in spite of the cropped head. Even the hunted expression of his eyes had declined a little. He apologized for his appetite. At the end of his meal, having eaten a plateful of raspberries, he said:

"I wonder if I might? It's so long since I tasted——"

He broke off short as my mother refilled his plate. He treated her with a kind of queer, grave courtesy, half humble, half equal. As for me, he seemed to be weighing me up, speculating whether I could be trusted, whereas he had implicit faith in my mother from the first moment. A settled conversation was difficult. He was clearly afraid of it. He would begin a repeating sentence and drop it uncompleted.

The one thing he talked out was Laxton. He had an overpowering desire to know about the professor. When he learned that I made the channel through which Laxton had come, he gnawed on the fact as a terrier does a bone, and licked it, and pawed it about.

I said nothing of my visit with Laxton to the Newplace cloisters. But he returned again and again to Laxton's arrival at Woodcot, the time, the circumstances.

The last episode of that agitated day was almost as bizarre as any.

Cousin John had accepted a cigaret from me and risen from the table. He turned to look round the dining room, and I saw him stiffen as his glance fell on the window: he had sat at table with his back to it. The summer evening was warm; we always kept our windows wide open.

Cousin John's fingers were clenched and he frowned heavily at me.

"Have we been sitting with the window like that all the time?" he asked.

I nodded.

"What madness!" he muttered, and drew the curtains across.

"No harm done," I said. "That's the kitchen garden side. And nobody ever comes to Woodcot at night."

He relaxed and said a word of apology to my mother.

He slept in the room Laxton had occupied the night before. When I went to see him in the morning he said he thought the best thing he could do was to report sick and stay in his room till he had news. Then nobody who might hear of Cousin John would be surprised if he was never visible. Not a word passed between us about Veronica or Mrs. Seabroke, nor did I say anything of the events at Newplace on the previous day.

I did mention in the course of the talk the name of Pell. His face darkened.

"I should prefer," said he, "not to discuss Pell."

Veronica's blue eyes had put me into a very curious position. That fact had been evident the night before. It simply shrieked at me at breakfast time.

My mother was down first. When I entered the room she poured my coffee, then handed me the newspaper and said:

"I'll leave you now. I shall be in the garden."

This was unusual. I divined some intention. As soon as I opened the paper, I saw it. She wanted me to reflect before exclaiming.

The paper contained a short and extremely sketchy account of the affair at Newplace Abbey—the shooting of Pell through the keyhole by some unknown marauder who had half murdered Professor Laxton before wholly murdering Pell.

I gathered that this would be the trend of the evidence at the inquest, that the assistance of Scotland Yard had been called in, and the most efficient "sleuths" who inhabited the Yard would devote themselves to the chase of the mysterious murderer.

All of which seemed pretty tame beside the actuality.

And it was not the report of the Newplace affair that had startled my mother and now made me sweat until I went cold.

The place of honor among the sensational news that morning belonged to a long message "From Our Special Correspondent" despatched from Tavistock in Devon and printed under the heading:

"Daring Escape of a Convict."

Does this explain the enigma of Cousin John? Continue the story tomorrow.

YOU WANT MORE THAN TRANSPORTATION

If transportation in a limited sense were all that an automobile could provide, any car would do, and the cheapest would be the best. ¶ The difference between the minimum in transportation and the maximum in motoring is exactly what sets the Chrysler-built De Soto Six completely apart from others in its field. It explains why De Soto Six has broken all sales records for a first-year car. ¶ The De Soto Six was not designed merely to carry people in passable comfort from one place to another. The qualities that afford De Soto true distinction are all supplementary to its mobility. ¶ De Soto Six is capable of such distinctive and versatile performance that nothing less than a demonstration can do it justice. We shall be glad to arrange this demonstration to suit your convenience.

Tuberculosis And Public Health Meeting

The annual meeting of the Ulster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis and on Public Health was held on Tuesday evening at Camp Happyland, which is operated by the committee, near Rosendale. This annual meeting followed a most interesting program given by the children at the camp, an account of which will be found in another column of this issue of The Freeman. Annual reports were given by officers of the committee and heads of standing committees and officers for the coming year were chosen.

Judge Joseph M. Fowler, president of the committee, was present and presided at the meeting, announcing for the benefit of many present as he opened the meeting that the committee is entirely a voluntary organization and is therefore open to membership to any and all persons interested primarily in tuberculosis work and also in public health work.

The first report given was that of the secretary, Dr. Mary Gage-Day, which was listened to with keen interest and accepted appreciatively as read. It follows:

Annual Report.

Since the last annual meeting of this committee we have lost by death one of our earnest and interested vice-presidents, the Rev. James G. Cameron, rector of All Saints' Church, Rosendale. One year ago he was present with us and greatly interested in the improvement of the children, as demonstrated by the skill with which they gave their play and general physical improvement. He had watched this change from Sunday to Sunday as the children of Protestant parentage attended his church.

We believe that his spirit is with us tonight and that the spirit which he manifested will make those of us who are still "carrying on" more anxious to increase and enlarge this truly constructive work at Camp Happyland.

We wish to extend to our vice-president, the Rev. Francis M. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, our deepest sympathy for his grief and prostration at the loss of his father.

The 1928 Christmas Seal sale was somewhat larger than that of the previous years, so that it has been possible to continue financing the visiting nurse, the clinics and Camp Happyland.

The plans for a new Tuberculosis Hospital on the Golden Hill site have been completed and specifications for bids prepared, but thus far nothing further has been accomplished. In the meantime, the work at the old hospital has been carried on as well as the meager facilities permit. The work of the present superintendent, Dr. Raymond S. Crispell and that of the head nurse, Miss May Ward, R. N., and her associates has been most efficient. Through the efforts of Dr. Crispell, aided by the Patients' Welfare Fund "Occupational Therapy" has been established at the hospital, and it has added much to the happiness and morale of the patients.

The following have been cash donations to this fund:

Gardiner Home Bureau, Mrs. Harrison, treasurer	$ 10.00
Lend-a-Hand Society of Sahler's Sanitarium	5.00
Friends, Christmas Fund	33.75
Ladies' Card Party, Lake DeWitt	21.00
Mrs. Stafford, Maiden Lane	5.00
St. John's Church, Stony Hollow, Rev. Peter Spellman	10.00
Chichester Community Church Sunday School	5.00
Helen Schwarzwalder (Mrs. Karl)	5.00
Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston	10.00
Mrs. W. Harrington	2.00
Frances Jacobs (in memory of Joseph Block)	3.00
Total	$109.75

Other Donations and Entertainments.

Christmas entertainment by Fair Street Reformed Church (efforts of Mrs. Reed).

Christmas tree for interior (yearly donation), John Garborino.

Christmas tree for outside, Messrs. Masten and Struble.

Trimmings for outside tree, Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

Lighting outside tree, Mr. Gruberg, (efforts of Mrs. Mary Hayes).

Singing of Christmas carols by Kingston Y. W. C. A. girls.

Ladies' Auxiliary of the Uptown Jewish Center, pleasing entertainment.

Early in the spring The Ulster County Garden Club again filled the window boxes with beautiful flowering plants; and Burgevin's, Inc., filled the circular flower bed with the same. Every year since the hospital has been there the patients have been cheered by the sight of this beautiful bed donated by these florists.

A large easy chair and a large leather rocker for the patients' living room was donated by Mrs. C. N. Reed and friends.

All the year other friends have sent gifts of fruit, vegetables, and have given automobile rides to those who were able to go.

Mrs. Sam Bernstein and friends made a very acceptable donation of several young hens which not only add interest to the hospital life, but aid the menu as well.

Feeling assured of the sympathy and interest of all the good people in this county, we are looking forward to adequate hospital facilities for the poor, suffering, tuberculosis sick in our community, and when that time comes, the death rate from tuberculosis will be greatly reduced in Ulster county.

Respectfully submitted,
MARY GAGE DAY,
Secretary.

The amount of time devoted to the preparation of an itemized report by the treasurer, as presented by Charles Snyder must have been very considerable, and called forth the warmest praise and words of appreciation from President Fowler, representing the entire committee. It showed a balance of $260.42 in the general fund and $256.35 in the Camp Happyland fund which is provided for by the people of Ulster county who buy Christmas Seals each year. The itemized report of Camp Happyland fund was as follows:

Treasurer's Report

Showing balance on hand in checking account in National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company August 30, 1928, to August 27, 1929:

Receipts.

Balance on hand August 30, 1928	$101.48
Withdrawals from general fund	2,725.00
Contribution from Fourth Binnewater Sunday school and community	15.00
Contribution from Shirick Goldsmith	7.00
Contribution from Edward J. Kearney	5.00
	$2,853.48

Disbursements.

Rent	$400.00
Insurance	24.45
Telephone and electricity	45.72
Salaries and wages	816.00
Supplies	1,125.71
Laundry	165.39
Printing	9.00
Miscellaneous	10.85
	$2,597.13
Balance on hand August 27, 1929	$256.35

The full treasurer's report was passed on to Cornelius Hume, chairman of the auditing committee, who stated that the audit of last year's report found it perfect in every detail.

Dr. Holcomb, chairman of the hospital committee not being present, Dr. Crispell reported briefly for him that to date the specifications for the new hospital had been printed and published but there had so far been no advertising for bids. The dire need of such a hospital with such a large amount of tuberculosis in our county was emphasized by Dr. Crispell, who deeply deplored the fact that we are not going at the root of the matter of either prevention or cure as we should in as much as we cannot care for incipient cases without the new hospital.

Report by Dr. O'Meara.

The following short report by Dr. O'Meara, chairman of the committee on visiting nurse, was amplified by the doctor's favorable comments as to the excellent work being done by our present tuberculosis visiting nurse, who was also the originator and has been the prime mover in the carrying on of Camp Happyland, which is indeed a remarkable preventive agency.

"I had the privilege of attending one of the chest clinics and one could not help but be impressed by the thoroughness and businesslike manner in which these clinics are conducted.

After a thorough examination is made of the patients by sounding and listening to the chest the findings thus made are checked by the X-ray.

This of course makes for accuracy. The physicians making the examinations are capable and expert in this kind of work. The clinics should therefore, in my opinion, receive the hearty support not only of the medical profession, but of all the people. In my opinion, the clinics should be held more frequently, especially in Kingston, so as to avoid overcrowding and to insure a closer follow up of the patients.

Miss Hagelweide then told of the work she had been doing as the Ulster county visiting nurse, in a statistical report which may be read below, but no word of hers could adequately tell the readers of The Freeman what this work entails in long auto trips, anxiety over the health and often finances of her patients as well as solicitation for the many contacts, particularly the children in many homes. Here is what Miss Hagelweide told of the work.

To the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health.

Health Camp Report.

Camp Happyland was reopened for the season of 1929 on July 5. The applications this year for camp were far beyond the number it was possible for us to accommodate but by adding a few more cots, and utilizing the porch which heretofore was the play room on rainy days we were able to care for 64 children, 31 boys in July and 33 girls during the month of August. The children under our care were admitted from the city of Kingston, town and village of Saugerties, Highland, Lloyd, Milton and Ellenville.

The children have shown gain not only in pounds but poise, in health habits, and the increased liking for milk, green vegetables, and life in the open. Dr. Haven Emerson of Columbia University made a statement as follows: "Probably at no previous time in the experience of our people have we recognized so many defects, diseases and disabilities, due directly or indirectly to errors of nutrition, to lack of adjustment of food intake to growth and energy needs. With these facts placed before us certainly the Ulster County Committee who are sponsoring the Health Camp from the proceeds of the Christmas seal sale, and contributions from kind friends, are doing much for the health and future upbuilding of the little children placed under their care.

Acknowledgment is made to the following for generous contributions of money for the children—through these gifts the playground was better equipped, toys, clothing and books were secured: Mrs. Mary Forsyth, Mrs. Ada Adams, Miss Healey, Mrs. Charles Mullen, Miss S. Edith Stevenson, Mrs. Charles Preston, The Friday Afternoon Club, M. Mueller, G. N. Lessner, Mrs. Mary Johnson in memory of the Rev. Mr. Cameron, Mrs. Kenny and friends of Rosendale. The children were most appreciative of the pleasure afforded them through these kind gifts.

Respectfully submitted,
LILIAN B. HAGELWEIDE, R. N.,
County Nurse.

No report upon the good accomplished at Camp Happyland would be at all complete without Mrs. Thomas Hayes's story of gifts from many friends, and this is what she had to tell:

Father O'Reilly and Miss Creeden entertained the children at St. Peter's bazaar and also furnished the transportation.

Through the kindness of Eugene B. Carey the K. of C. furnished busses to take the children to church and Sunday school at Rosendale for July and August.

The American Red Cross furnished the milk for the camp.

An upright piano gift of a friend.

In closing my report, I would like to say that through the kindness and help of John D. Schoonmaker, Sr., the children of Camp Happyland have been made happy in a great many ways too numerous to mention.

After the giving of the reports, and a general discussion of the health conditions in the county, Dr. Day read a communication relative to the holding of a two-day conference between the middle of September and the middle of October, here in Kingston, to be attended by tuberculosis workers, etc., and also to be open to the general public, with other nearby counties cooperating. It was thought that a matter of so much import should have careful consideration and the president was empowered to appoint a committee to investigate and take any necessary action in the event of holding such a conference here. The committee appointed was made up of Dr. Mark O'Meara, Dr. Mary Gage-Day, Dr. Crispell, Mrs. C. N. Reed and Miss Hagelweide.

Miss Short of the State Charities Aid Association was present at the meeting and when called upon for a few words, made some suggestions relative to the need of more visiting nurses.

Officers Elected.

The last business of the meeting was the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Joseph M. Fowler; vice presidents, Sam Bernstein, Rev. Charles G. Ellis, Mrs. Clara N. Reed, Rev. William H. Kennedy, Mrs. Mary (Thomas) Hayes, Capt. Everett Fowler, Rev. Edmund Burke, Mrs. C. V. Hasbrouck, Rosendale, Rev. Mr. Gratton, Rosendale, Rev. Francis M. O'Reilly, Rosendale, Hon. John A. Snyder, Saugerties.

Judge Fowler announced that he would announce the appointment of chairmen of standing committees very shortly.

Violet and purple tones are expected to be unusually good this fall.

The status of panne velvet is under lively discussion the consensus of opinion being that it will be good plain and printed.

Fur trimmed suits and hats are something more than a fall possibility. Calf is among the trimmings approved for hat trimmings.

Soft yellows and deep pink and coral tones are noted among the most important trousseaux lingerie being trimmed with deeply tinted lace.

Circular lines are also a lingerie features.

The molded bodice with higher placement of the waistline is generally approved in current fashions.

Coats frequently repeat the main motif of the collar.

Velvet in combination with canton crepe is a fall favorite.

White sweaters for winter sports—if one has any interest in such things at the moment, is a Paris rumor.

Nub tweeds continue to be thoroughly approved for autumn tailored suits and travel coats.

Bird Lifetime

It is believed that song birds average from 6 to 10 years of life, but they have been known to live longer in captivity. Small birds 10 years old are old. From records of banded birds, few birds besides sparrows live to 6 years. Usually birds live only about 2 years.

"Hail to the Chief" is a boat song which occurs in the second canto of Scott's "Lady of the Lake." The air, by Sir Henry Rowley Bishop, is frequently played upon public occasions to announce the approach of a person of prominence.

WHAT HE HAS

When he stirs a soft emotion
In the heart of every girl,
As he carelessly walks by her,
And her head is in a whirl;
When she thinks him the quintessence
Of male pulchritude and wit,
You can take it from me, sonny,
He's got "It".

When he blames the territory,
Or the weather or his line,
With a share of luck he surely
Would just put it over fine;
When he has a fund of alibis
When the battle gets too stiff;
You'll admit, it's quite apparent,
He's got "If".

When he battles gamely forward
And he never is outclassed;
When he's dwelling in the present,
Never bothered by the past;
When he has a zest for struggle
And the joy of life is his;
Not a soul would dare dispute it,
He's got "Is".

Seam of Burning Coal Keeps Mountain Warm

A unique Australian phenomenon is the "Burning Mountain" at Wingen in northern New South Wales, which scientists say has been on fire 1,000 years.

According to a party of geologists, who have just returned from an exploration of the mountain, says an Associated Press dispatch from Sydney, there lies below the surface a burning coal seam. Long before European settlement in Australia "Burning Mountain" was known to the aborigines, and to them it owes its name, Wingen, signifying "fire."

The geologists report that the summit presents the appearance of the debris of a vast block of buildings consumed by fire with an explosion or two thrown in. Smoke and steam continuously are issuing from different points, and there are numerous deposits of alum and sulphur.

The burning seam probably is 30 feet or more in thickness, say the geologists, and is being consumed at the rate of from 120 to 130 yards each century. The warmth of the mountain in winter time attracts cattle, horses, and wild animals.

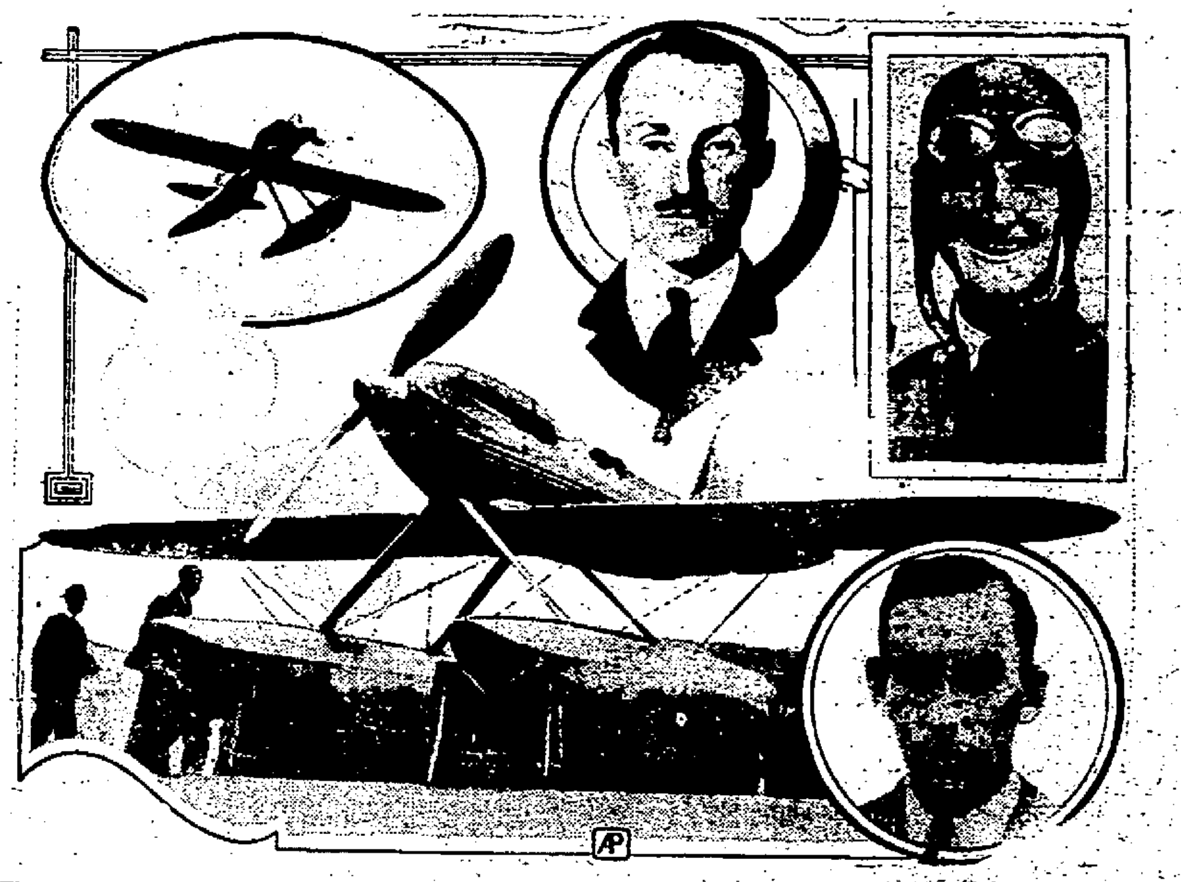
British Planes Roar In Schneider Tests



The Supermarine S-6, shown in flight and on its truck, is England's leading entry for the Schneider Cup races September 7. Prominent among the pilots from whom will be chosen the British three-man team are Flight Lieut. D. D'Arcy Greig (upper left), Squadron Leader A. H. Orlebar (upper right), and Flying Officer R. L. R. Atcherley (below).

Calshot, England (AP).—This air station on the Solent has been echoing for weeks with the roar of seaplanes tuning up for the Schneider Cup contest.

The Schneider races, scheduled to be flown over waters near here September 1, although the Italians have requested a postponement, are drawing the swiftest sea birds of three nations—Great Britain, the United States and Italy.

Spectacular in flight is the leading British entry, the Supermarine S-6, which has attained a test speed estimated between 320 and 350 miles an hour with Flying Officer R. L. R. Atcherly at the controls. Its speed is difficult to estimate from the ground, as it moves so fast that observers lose the position.

Choice of the three fliers to man the British ships will me made August 31. All of the six pilots of the high speed flight from which the three will be selected are aviators of distinguished records.

Atcherley was a pilot of No. 29 fighter squadron, and early this summer won the King's cup air race.

Squadron Leader A. H. Orlebar joined the flying corps in 1916, flew with a bombing squadron and in Iraq, and was awarded the air force cross in 1921.

Flight Lieut. D. D'Arcy Greig was in France in 1918, with the Royal air force in Iraq, received the distinguished flying cross in 1921 for services in Mesopotamia, and in a test flight here last year piloted his plane 319.57 miles an hour.

Flight Lieut. G. H. Stainforth saw World War service and later served with the R. A. F. in Egypt.

Flying Officer H. R. D. Waghorn, a fighter pilot with No. 17 Squadron, has been an instructor at the central flying school.

Flying Officer T. H. Moon saw World War service as an engineering officer. He became technical officer in the R. A. F. and has served in Egypt, Iraq, and other parts of the middle east.

Another man whose interest in the international speed battle will be as keen as if he were piloting one of the bullet like monoplanes is R. J. Mitchell, designer of the ships.

Mitchell joined the Supermarine aviation works in 1917 and three years later became chief engineer and designer for the concern. It was he who designed the Supermarine Sea Lion that won the Schneider Cup in 1923, and the Supermarine Napier S-4 which broke the seaplane speed record in 1925.

The other two British planes built for the Schneider race were designed by H. P. Follard, whose Gloster-Napier sixes are exceptionally beautiful as well as speedy.

He designed the Gloster biplane which made the fastest lap in 1927.

The Italian Schneider Cup team requested England to postpone the race because of the death of the Italian aviator Motta.

YOU are vitally interested and need a copy—provided—you drive a car or truck, you own a car or truck which is operated by an employee.

There have been so many inquiries concerning the provisions of the new SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW that we have published its full requirements in this booklet.

The New Law becomes effective September 1st. But, if you meantime have an accident and a judgment results therefrom on or after September 1st, your registration license on every car you own and operator's license will be suspended unless the judgment is paid within fifteen days.

The Law provides that a Public Liability and Property Damage Insurance Policy is sufficient proof of financial responsibility.

Costume Dance At Crosspatch

Crosspatch, Aug. 28.—All the young people for miles around are now putting the finishing touches to their costumes for the dance at Crosspatch Saturday evening, August 31.

Also many who are young in spirit, even if not so young in years, are fixing something original to catch the eye of the judges and score at least one prize.

The costume dance closes the summer season at Crosspatch and is looked forward to as one of the jolliest in the entire range of amusements in this section of the country.

There will be four prizes this year. A first prize of two dollars for the most original costume; for the prettiest costume, the funniest, one dollar each and a prize of a dollar to the best child's costume. This gives a little wider range of prizes than last year. Crosspatch likes things a little out of the ordinary, so it gives first prize to the costume showing the most originality. This might be made at home and need not cost a cent—just a little work and a bright idea—so everyone has a chance at the first honor.

Old-fashioned costumes are very quaint and popular, so many an old garret has been overhauled during the past few days in search of hoop-skirts, bustles, puffed sleeves and sun bonnets. All of these are reminders of the dear old days when life was more primitive and strenuous than in these days of cars and radios. Considering the history of this neighborhood, it is odd that last year there was not an Indian, a huntsman, or a lumberman, nor even Rip Van Winkle himself. There was only one couple who reminded us of the sturdy old mountaineers, so there is plenty of room for different ideas.

The prizes will be awarded by three judges, who will be appointed by Mrs. Evelyn Cross, the founder and manager of Crosspatch. About half past nine there will be a grand march of those in costume, headed by the musicians. As they march around the judges will consider and give their decision.

Masks are optional. They do add to the gaiety, but a good costume without a mask will stand a good chance for a prize.

Everybody is cordially invited to come to Crosspatch and have a good time. It is not necessary to wear a costume unless one feels like it and those not in costume are welcome to dance as often as they like, or perhaps it would be more accurate to say, as often as they get a chance, for the fine dancing floor at Crosspatch is apt to be crowded all the time with enthusiastic young people, who go through the old-fashioned square dances with great enthusiasm. Crosspatch has a fine man to "call off" the figures and he keeps them all in shouts of laughter at his quaint admonitions. However, he selects a partner and dances himself as he calls off, so that all may see how it should be done.

Crosspatch will be artistically decorated with Chinese lanterns, flags and balloons and lots and lots of flowers. The white cat will doze by the fireside (which glows but does not heat) and lighted candles will give a soft glow on the mantel.

"Find Felix" will, as usual, be an amusement while the crowd is gathering. Mrs. Cross has a new and unusual "Felix" that is a perfect joy and will take a lot of hunting. He (or it) will have "Felix" plainly printed where it can be seen by sharp eyes.

So Crosspatch is going to have a lovely party and everyone is cordially invited to come.

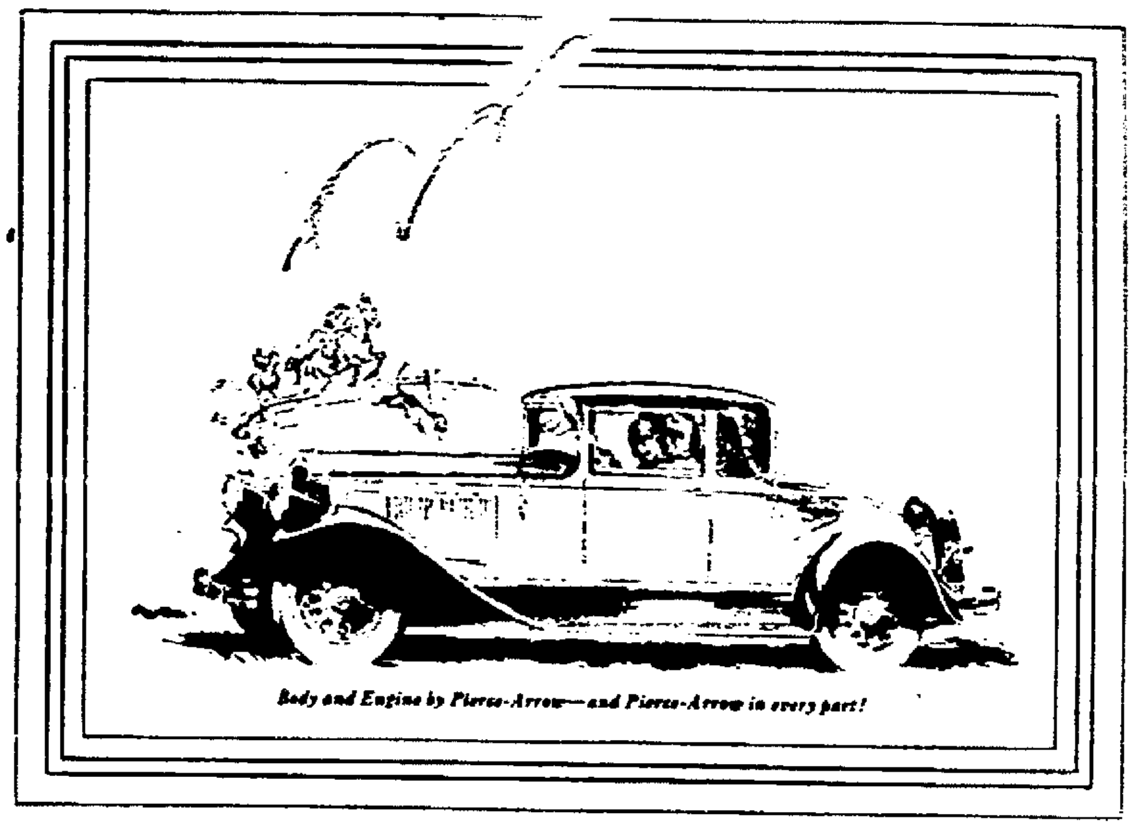
White Weasels

In some climates weasels turn white in winter, especially some species in northern Europe, Asia and America.

It took greatness

to Sustain This Waiting Demand



Body and Engine by Pierce-Arrow—and Pierce-Arrow in every part!

PIERCE-ARROW builded better than it knew when it produced the new Straight Eight. For this ultra-modern creation revolutionized the fashion in fine cars—and established a demand almost overnight which took months to meet.

Before the new Straight Eight's arrival, bulkiness was accepted as a necessary attribute of bigness in automobiles. But Pierce-Arrow created a long, slender, low-swung car that combines grace with every essential to capacious comfort. Besides, it has the added distinction of being the car for which America was willing to wait.

No one could have foreseen the demand for the new Straight Eight—and it took nothing less than a great automobile to sustain it. Today, however, the chances for early deliveries are excellent—including a number of the most favored models in the new Straight Eight line.

She ran away to New York to get into theatricals, and she finally landed in vaudeville. For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

A LESSON FROM BIRDS

L. A. Barrett.

Life is impossible without struggle. Everything worth having costs something. Definite and impelling motives drive us to performing not only heroic deeds but to the enduring and mastering of the strain and monotony of daily toil. When we make diligent effort to discover what this motive is we find that it is nothing less than what Henry Drummond called the greatest thing in the world—love. Love of country creates the patriot. Love of fine arts, the artist, musician, painter, sculptor. The highest form of love is paternal, the love which a parent possesses for a child, which is frequently called mother's love. Paternal love is expressed in many ways—perhaps the most enduring and wonderful is sacrifice. For love of country a man will offer his life as a sacrifice upon the field of battle. For love of ideals which dominate his life, the student will endure the most severe hardships. Enthusiasm, that very essential element to all success, is the result of one's love for his particular task. The love, however, which maintains the home, and provides and protects little children, is most real and wonderful, and is the most stabilizing factor in the development of our modern civilization.

Expressions of sacrifice are not confined wholly to human beings. We find it expressed in almost every form of life. One of the most interesting demonstrations of this element of vicarious sacrifice is found in the customs of birds. An illustration of this is the male cardinal who will sit, with eye alert, upon the green grass near the nest in order not to drive enemies away, but to attract to himself and away from the nest any enemies who may have designs upon his offspring. He thus voluntarily transfers to himself the danger which might possibly come to his mate and baby cardinals. Another bird will mimic a "bird with a broken wing" in order to attract the attention of the cat which may have designs upon the nest. This principle of voluntary self sacrifice is discovered in life's most minute beginnings up at last to man. Thus the birds teach us the lesson that voluntary self sacrifice is one of the most potent factors and impelling impulses in life. When expressed in human life it is the chief source of all contentment and satisfaction. The experience which will bring to you the greatest happiness is your act of voluntary self sacrifice, through which some one you love very dearly is made more happy or has at last realized his ideal.

Term of Derision

A nincompoop is a foolish or silly person; a boob. The origin of the word is uncertain. Some think it is a corruption of Latin legal phrase "non compos," which is a shortened form or "non compos mentis," meaning not possessed of one's mind. "Liripoop" is also applied to a silly person.

Playlet Given at Camp Happyland

There was great excitement among the little girls at Camp Happyland on Tuesday for in the evening they were to give a little playlet for the grown-ups of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Public Health Committee which was coming to their camp and they wanted to do their very best to show how grateful they were that they had had the chance to come to the camp.

Driving into the grounds of the camp, the visitor noticed a prettily arranged little throne under one tree, and a stretched curtain with miniature scenery at another point, quite stirring up one's curiosity.

A very nice little program hand-printed given the guests said:

Annual Meeting
of
Ulster County Tuberculosis Committee
at
Camp Happyland
August 27, 1929
Playlet
An Argument in the Kitchen
Health Parade
Processional
Fairies, Fruit, Vegetables, Health,
Milk
Queen

While the people were gathering together—and there was quite an audience present at the clever little outdoor program—the following facts were learned about the camp this summer. Mrs. Rodie, nee Miss Elizabeth Brown, former tuberculosis visiting nurse, has been in charge of all the physical care of the children. Miss Dorothy Chadwick, B. P. E., graduate of the Sargent College of Physical Education at Boston, Mass., who was the splendid physical and educational trainer last year, was at the camp again this year and was ably assisted by Miss Boyd. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Long are the efficient and interested care-taker and cook for the happy children and their elders. There were 31 boys at the camp in July and 33 girls are now there, making a total of ten more children than last year. In order to accommodate all of these youngsters, who came to the camp sadly in need of its kindly ministrations, the porches were enclosed with screening and beds placed there.

The camp children have made, assisted by their teachers, a "Health House," which is one of the cleverest things seen in a long time. The walls made of some of the building-board compositions are "Stuccoed" neatly with oat meal, while the shingled roof is made of graham crackers, and the smallest sized milk bottles, inverted are the chimneys. There are no windows, but the sashes as well as some smaller uprights, and a flag staff on the tiny lawn are of macaroni. Half-slices of graham bread form the shutters to the windows and steps of cheese lead down to a graden walk of rice, bordered on either side with dried prunes and apricots. The foundation was covered with beans, peas and lentils as stucco. Celery trees grew on the lawn and there was a tiny spring surrounded by a neat wall of sugared pop-corn. It is the hope of those most interested to be able to exhibit this little house in one of the show windows of one of our larger uptown stores.

Then on a small table arranged about another tall tree were to be seen baskets, tea stands, pretty belts made from magazine colored pages and some well done wortsed work, all the handiwork of the little girls. The children had also had a hand in making the very appealing and impressing posters adorning the walls and doors of the big dining room, chiefest among them being one bearing the picture of a very healthy and attractive little girl and the following words, "Radiant
Health
Protects Against Tuberculosis."

By the time all of these facts had been gathered and sights seen, the children began to gather for their program which was amazingly well given considering both the diminutive size of some of the children and the fact that they have not been at the camp quite a month yet.

The before-mentioned scenery consisted of a tall clock with a white faced-dial, a cook stove whereon sat soup kettle and porridge pot and at the opposite side of the clock a table bearing a coffee pot, a tea pot, box of candy, pickle jar and sugar bowl, behind each of which stood a child.

Milk Bottle Wins.

The little playlet consisted of an argument in the kitchen as to whether milk bottle or coffee pot were the best friend of little Ellen just going to school. Ellen's mother would not let her have coffee or tea for her breakfast, only milk to drink and after a short nap Ellen was to be ready for school. While napping, Ellen had a dream in which the playlet, "An Argument in the Kitchen", took place. Kitchen Clock, (Tessie Dort) acted as judge in the argument as to who was the best friend of Ellen and other Children, Coffee Pot (E. Hogg) or Milk Bottle (E. Helke). Milk Bottle had the support of Porridge Pot (M. Minkler), Soup Kettle (C. Glancy), Health Fairies and Vitamines, even Salt (A. Sevensky) Pepper (E. Cole), Sugar Bowl (F. Palmatier), and Candy Box (O. Rougier). Poor Coffee Pot could bring to her aid only Tea Pot (L. Mulstay), and Pickle Jar (I. Frahliegh), and two bad fairies, one being caffeine. It is needless to say that the milk bottle won the argument according to the decision of Judge Time Clock, and when Ellen awoke and told her dream she was perfectly satisfied to drink her milk and run happily off to school. In this little playlet the children had considerable memorizing to do and did it admirably. Moreover they took such pleasure in their performance that it pleased everyone else, and so gave much happiness.

Health Parade.

The playlet was followed by a Health Parade of Vegetable Fairies, Fruit Fairies, Health Fairies, Milk Fairies, all of whom took part in the Crowning of the Health Queen, Tessie Dort, who was chosen as queen because during her short stay at the camp she had gained six pounds in weight and made other gains. The little folks were cleverly costumed in crepe paper, the queen having quite a gorgeous robe, and with fancy steps, dances and singing by the littlest folks, the queen was led to her throne and crowned. It was a very pretty sight in the light of the setting sun, but it was more than pretty, it gave the best idea of the health gained by these little children. Healthily-tanned, firm-fleshed little bodies, steady muscles and bright eyes full of the joy of it all, was the convincing proof of the inestimable value of Camp Happyland, and Miss Chadwick, who personally directed the work, was congratulated heartily upon the accomplishment of her part of the good work. Other children who took part in the program were Frances Wynohradnyk, Florence Minkler, Rita Glancy, Evelyn Addo, Marie Palidino, Eleanor Paladino, Theresa Amarella, Mary Corcoran, Anna May Avery, Gertrure Schoonmaker, Olive Steinhilber, Marie Peterson, Rita Sotillo, Lillian Gregory, Margaret Amerilla, Doris Cashdollar, Florence Martin, Tessie Probamzo, Helen Damais and Mary Damais.

Following the program the guests were invited into the dining room, which was most attractive with its long table with white cover, pretty rose and lavender paper doilies made by the children, vases of gladioli and asters, and the overhead lights softly shaded by streamers of the same tinted paper. Here the annual meeting of the Tuberculosis Committee, was held, after which the camp staff served cake and fruit punch to their guests, all of the little folks being snugly tucked in bed and for the most part sound asleep.

3 CHRYSLERS WITH MULTI-RANGE GEAR SHIFT GIVE NEW DRIVING THRILL

THROUGH the development of a new Multi-Range Gear Shift and other sweeping advancements, Chrysler has left the industry far behind.

First created for the magnificent Chrysler Imperial—and now carrying out the Chrysler ideals of Standardized Quality, also incorporated in the new "77" and "70"—the Multi-Range Gear Shift completely revolutionizes range and quality of motor car performance. The results are entirely without counterpart in automobile experience.

There is nothing new to learn in driving. You shift gears as before—but with what a difference in results and what a difference in the joys of driving!

Not until you actually drive a Chrysler Imperial, "77" or "70" will you realize finally and fully how far ahead the new Multi-Range Gear Shift has carried the standards of motoring.

Nor do you want to miss seeing and driving the remarkable new Chrysler "66"—lower in price than any six that ever before bore the name of Chrysler—a new creation already proclaimed far and wide as the foremost six-cylinder value of the times. It is every inch a Chrysler in the best Chrysler tradition, from radiator to rear axle, from rims to roof—and what a value!

Kingston Man Glad To Endorse Nu-Erb, Great Medicine He Declares

Relates How It Put An End To Long Standing Stomach, Kidney And Nervous Disorders.

Scores of Kingston men and women continue to call on the Nu-Erb man at McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., each day to tell of the splendid work that is being done by this master medicine in this vicinity. Among the cases that are being reported are former sufferers from indigestion, gas in stomach, bilious attacks, dizzy spells, nervousness, backache, frequent urination, sluggish liver, constipation, rheumatism, neuritis and many other disorders that arise from improper functioning of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels.

Among the most recent ones to tell of the relief that is to be had by using this medicine is Mr. A. J. Yaple, 20 Joy's Lane, Kingston, N. Y.

"For many years I have suffered because of stomach, kidney and nervous disorders," said Mr. Yaple. "Gas formed into what seemed like a large ball that lodged in the pit of my stomach after every meal. My food soured and I suffered much because of indigestion and other distress in my stomach. My kidneys were very weak. I had a continual aching pain across my back and was disturbed several times each night. I also suffered from dizzy spells, floating spots before my eyes, severe headaches and I was very nervous. I felt irritable and restless and awakened each morning with a tired worn out feeling.

"Since using Nu-Erb, however, I have had the first real relief from these troubles. It has overcome the indigestion pains and that distressing gas and sourness of my food. It has also given me splendid relief from the backache and I sleep the whole night through without being disturbed. I no longer am troubled with those dizzy spells; spots before my eyes and I seldom have a headache now. My nerves have been strengthened and I awaken in the morning feeling refreshed and more energetic than I have for many years. I am glad to endorse such a medicine as Nu-Erb and believe that anyone suffering in this way would do well to give it a trial."

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

The Sandman Story

ABOUT BIDDLE, THE CAT

"YOU have often heard of Biddle Birdsell, the cat," said the Sandman, "and I have one more story to tell you of Biddle."

"Only one more?" asked Nick and Nancy together.

"Yes," said the Sandman, "this is the story of Biddle's last adventure, and it is a true story just as all the animal stories that are told are true stories.

"As you know, Biddle was a real cat. He belonged to a little girl named Gertrude. She had tried to say 'Kitty' when she was a very small girl.

"And 'Biddle' was the best she was able to do. So they had always called him Biddle.

"He was a tiny kitten when Gertrude was a baby. He had wandered to the house where Gertrude lived and as he seemed to be a little waif kitty, Gertrude's mother and daddy took him in and gave him a comfortable home.

Wore a Little Collar With Many Bells.

"Biddle was always called Gertrude's cat for he arrived only a little bit later than Gertrude had arrived.

"Biddle was a very remarkable cat. He was devoted to the family and he did many very clever things. He always wore a little collar with many bells upon it so as to warn the birds that he was about, and would catch and eat them if they were not careful.

"Gertrude had thought that was only fair to the birds and she was quite right.

"In time Gertrude grew up. She was almost a 'young lady' now and Biddle was getting to be a very old cat.

"Oh, Biddle didn't care much about adventures as he once had. He didn't care to wander and play as he had when he was only a kitty, playful little kitten.

"He liked to sit in a big chair which was always called Biddle's chair, and there he would sleep—though when the family told visitors of the wonderful things Biddle did he always half-blinked his eyes and listened to what was being said about him.

"His family had moved from the house where they had lived for a great many years. They had gone to another house in the same town and Biddle had waited until the last of the furniture had been moved before he went along, too.

"He was quite willing to go with them. He knew they must go. And he made himself quite at home in the new house—his old chair was there and the family were there and, if he felt sad at all, he made the best of things.

"He grew older and older of course and with age came great feebleness. But he was very happy and very contented.

"He was petted a great deal. Old age was as nice as youth, he had decided.

"One day he acted rather strangely. He seemed to be thinking very hard.

"Suddenly he got up from his chair. Suddenly he moved, though for a long time he had always moved very carefully, very slowly

"With a tremendous spurt he had jumped up and had bounded out of the house with all his one-time youthful sprightliness.

"He dashed across the street and out of sight.

"In a little while the telephone rang. The people who now lived in the house where Biddle had once lived were telephoning.

"'Biddle is here,' they said. "We heard a cat purring and found him outside the door. He seemed to want to come in. He ran right into the study and sat on the desk—just where you once told us he always used to sit, and there he is now. We thought you might worry about him as you said he never left the house these days.'

"An hour passed. Biddle had sat on the desk all that time, taking in all the dear familiar walls, the dear familiar glow and sparkle from the fireplace. Suddenly his energy seemed to have left him.

"Wearily he got down and dragged himself home. He went back to his old chair. Yes, he was an old, old cat and his days would not be many more. But he had seen his old home again. He had made one last splendid spurt and it had carried him through.

"Biddle had had his last adventure."

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

YARROW

IN MANY parts of this country and Canada the yarrow is used by young persons for purposes of love divination. The custom varies in different localities, but nearly all are accompanied by a rhyming incantation. One way is to pick a sprig of yarrow, put the stem up the nose and say:

Yarrow, yarrow, if he loves me as I love he,
A drop of blood I'd wish to see.

If blood appears the divinor is loved—otherwise not.

Another way is to place a sprig of yarrow under your pillow when, if your love is returned, the one you love will appear in your dreams. In England they say that in order to make this charm work, the yarrow must be gathered, in the case of a maiden, from a young man's grave. In folk-medicine yarrow is recommended for the ague, and it really does possess slight tonic and astringent qualities.

Just why the yarrow should be supposed to have power in matters of love divination is not very clear, but such power has been ascribed to it from the earliest times and is an outgrowth of northern mythology. The "young man's grave" in the English version of the yarrow superstition, the fact that in the older forms the yarrow plucked must be the first one found in the spring, and that in many of the formulas the idea of blood appears, makes it highly probable that the plant was in some way connected with Balder the Beautiful, the young Norse god who was slain by the blind god Hodur. Several points in Professor Frazer's work on the Balder myth tend to confirm this supposition.

Steps to Popularity

Before you start along the road to popularity, you must have four things packed ready to take with you: 1. Unselfishness, a willingness to forget self in the interests of others. 2. Sincere friendliness toward people of all ages. 3. Ability or willingness to adapt oneself to be at ease under various circumstances and with all people. 4. An unassuming manner.

Meet Your Friends at the Masonic Club Barbecue
FORSYTH PARK,
Saturday, Sept. 14th

Dear Editor:

I'VE been thinking about the little things that affect a man's prosperity. Take sand now. You know golf courses used to buy sand for players to tee up the ball. That was a steady business; you rarely ever heard of anybody using the same tee twice.

But then some one invented wood tees, and now the sand consumption is cut way down.

Think of some perfectly good sand plant being shut down for lack of golf club business!

The only bright spot is that hotels and office buildings maintain arty jars filled with sand to catch cigar butts. But that can't represent much business to an up-and-coming sand bank. I doubt if a good man could keep up his interest just in supplying sand for those things.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—"Older men should never quit," Henry Ford has told B. C. Forbes. "If all the men over 50 got out of the world there would not be enough experience left to run it." The interview appears in Forbes Magazine.

Albany, N. Y.—One of Alfred E. Smith's best friends, separated from him, is dead. Big Jeff, Great Dane, was left in Albany until arrangements could be made for him in New York. He died of a leg infection.

Nashville, Tenn.—Perhaps Pa Stribling is trying his ingenuity at Ballyhoo. He announces his son has signed up for three fights in Europe and that father and son will fly across the pond if somebody will provide a plane.

New York—Plans for the two Lindberghs to fly to South and Central America on a pleasure and good will tour are described by the New York Times. The colonel and his bride will start September 20 from Miami, Fla., for Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, and then continue to Buenos Aires, across the Andes and Chile and up the coast. Then they will visit Mexico City, where their romance began. The plane will be dual control, of course.

New York—Betty Sakkunders, 11, while dancing on her toes, turns a back flip and lands on her toes. She is a Philadelphia child who has been studying acrobatics since she was three years old. Her stunt was shown at the convention of the American Society of Teachers of Dancing here.

Chicago—Polly has been pining and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes is coming from London to cheer her up. Polly is a 30-year-old parrot left behind by the ambassador.

New York—Frankie Dwyer, who was known to police on both sides of the ocean as a trans-Atlantic card sharp and confidence man, is dead. In recent years he was in comparative poverty, his eyesight and self-confidence and engaging appearance having deserted him. Often he was arrested. Never was he convicted.

Charleston, S. C.—Agatha Gavinski, who came from Germany by steamship for the purpose, is to be married tomorrow to Paul Muller, who crossed the Atlantic alone in an 18-foot sailboat. The mayor will give the bride away; the German consul wil be best man. Shortly thereafter Paul intends to sail back to Germany in a small boat alone.

Ackerman Drives Winning Horse.

Three of the events in the Grand Circuit races at the New York state fair at Syracuse Tuesday were won in straight heats. Better Win, Ackerman of Saugerties driving, took the three year old pace, breaking the track record for his age and gait, setting a new mark for the Grand Circuit this year for three year old pacing stallions and coming within one-quarter of a second of the world race record for the same conditions set by Frisco June nearly ten years ago. The purse was for $2,000 and the time by heats 2:04½, 2:01¼. There were four starters in the race.

One of the oldest known national dances is the phyrric dance of Albania. It interprets the story of a thousand years of combat, victories and defeats—danced by the native men in colorful and picturesque costumes.

GOOD BRAKES NOT ALWAYS CERTAIN

Car Owners Should Be Turning to Latest Test Machines for Safety.

That brakes can be so effective as to trap the car owner into believing that he has nothing to gain by having them periodically and scientifically inspected is a new thought that is gaining momentum in the motor world. Brake experts now go so far as to warn that what passes for satisfactory stopping may be a broad hint of sudden and perhaps chronic brake trouble.

Almost any car with four-wheel brakes will "stop." That, in the opinion of those who are trying to get at the root of present difficulties in deceleration, is where the danger lies. Few drivers appreciate what their brakes could do if properly cared for and how vitally important it is to keep up with the brake efficiency of the newest cars.

Despite the fact that motordom is on an entirely new basis of stopping efficiency, it is still common to see motorists, even mechanics, testing their brakes by sliding the wheels along the garage floor. But 1900, or even 1910 methods, are no match for present-day needs. This is a machine age where human fallibility cannot be tolerated, and it is logical that progressive car owners should be turning to the latest brake-testing machine and brake-renovating equipment in order to safeguard stopping.

These machines and newer systems teach even the most seasoned motorist many points which he might not come to appreciate by the slower method of learning through hazardous and expensive experience. In the case of internal expanding brakes, for instance, excessively sudden stopping may result in the drums warping. When this condition prevails it is impossible to adjust the brake shoes so as to prevent their vibration when the brakes are applied. Chronic screeching of the brakes is just one of the results of such a condition.

How can the car owner tell if his drums are out of round or whether the squeaks in his brakes are due to this cause?

A few years ago this question would have been left to guesswork, or if the owner happened to be unusually interested in the matter he might seek out a machine shop. Today he goes to authorized brake service stations, runs his car up on a convenient four-wheel testing machine and is soon in possession of accurate information regarding the exact condition of the brakes.

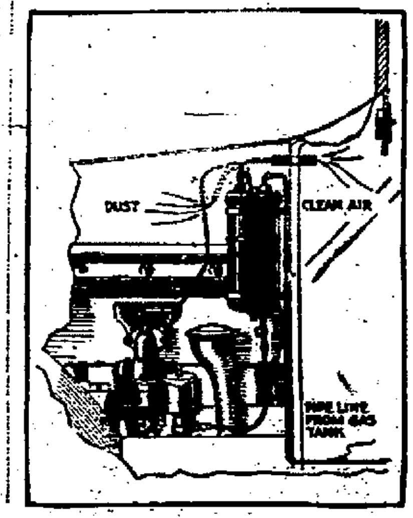
Prevent Dust Particles From Entering Vent Pipe

The level of the gasoline in the float chamber of a carburetor is controlled by a small needle valve operated by the rising and falling of the float. The action of this valve necessarily must be delicate since there is little power available to operate it. The valve itself consists of a tapered seat with a tapered pin that is ground in to make a gasoline-tight joint. If the valve does not make a tight joint, gasoline will seep past and raise the level in the float chamber above the opening in the spray nozzle and it will flow out through the spray jet and leak out of the carburetor in a steady drip.



How You Can Prevent Dust Particles From Entering Vent Pipe of the Vacuum Tank.

If the valve is properly ground in, the only possible cause of such a leak is a tiny piece of foreign matter such as a piece of dust lodging between the ground faces and keeping them apart. In localities where there is much dust a frequently unsuspected source of trouble is the vent pipe of the vacuum tank. Air is drawn into the pipe part of the time, and dust goes with it. The illustration shows a cure for this trouble. The vent pipe is brought back through the dash and the end is covered with a piece of old stocking material that will filter out the dust.—Popular Science Monthly.

MOTOR QUIZ

How Many Can You Answer?

Q.—What is the cause of a storage battery overheating?

Ans.—Not enough water or too rapid a rate of charging.

Q.—Why should valves be ground?

Ans.—Much gasoline is saved by grinding in valves as loss of compressions means loss of power.

Q.—What is a common cause of hard starting even when the battery is in good condition?

Ans.—Old or wornout spark plugs, or plugs that are not properly gapped. Plug should be gapped at .018 to .022 inch; and breaker points at .015 to .020 inch, in most cases.

Q.—What per cent of the consumption of various commodities such as rubber, plate glass, leather, nickel, gasoline and finished rolled steel is used by the automotive industry?

Ans.—Rubber, 85 per cent, plate glass, 74 per cent, leather, 60 per cent, nickel, 28 per cent, gasoline, 80 per cent, and rolled steel, 18 per cent.

Nation of Speed

Thirty-six states of the Union permitted cars to travel at speeds as great as 35 and 45 miles an hour in 1928, while three states placed no fixed limit on the speed of motor cars. In 1918 only three states allowed cars to travel 35 or 40 miles an hour on their highways. Twenty-five miles an hour was the usual maximum, while one state fixed 15 as the greatest permissible pace.

Tent Meetings Continue.

The tent meetings being held at the corner of Henry and Pine streets, under auspices of the Church of the Nazarene, continue with interest. The Rev. D. M. Conison, cowboy evangelist, will preach tonight on the subject, "The End of the World." Thursday night his subject will be "The Unpardonable Sin" and Sunday "The Prodigal Son." Special singing at each service, including Saturday.

Replica of Graf Zeppelin.

A large sized replica of the Graf Zeppelin, on display in one of the show windows of the Up-to-Date store, Wall street, attracts much attention from pedestrians, who stop and watch the turning of wheels.

Derivation of "Economics"

The word "economics comes from two Greek words which mean household management."

Took Leviticus As His Guide

Chicago, Aug. 28 (AP)—From the Book of Leviticus, 21st chapter, 14th verse, Judge Joseph B. David yesterday took authority to annul the marriage of Louis Leon, 61.

Leon told the court he was a descendant of Aaron, brother of Moses and the first high priest. Under Jewish orthodoxy he is a "Cohen", a title inherited by all male descendants of Aaron. As such, he told the court, he is governed by the special laws of his faith concerning priests, though by profession he is a tailor.

Through his marriage to Mrs. Rose Davis, 50, a widow and a divorced woman, he lost his title, was barred from worship and forfeited the privilege of burial in hallowed ground—a crushing decree for an orthodox Jew, he explained.

It was not until after his marriage last February, he said, that he learned she had been twice married before, her first husband dying, her second having been divorced. Thus, he told Judge David, he had twice violated the Mosaic law as laid down in Leviticus:

"A widow, or a divorced woman—these shall he not take; but he shall take a virgin of his own people to wife."

Seeking relief in Illinois statutes, Leon was beaten to court by his wife, who sought separate maintenance. Leon's attorney countered with suit for divorce, basing his petition solely on the ancient Hebraic law. He produced witnesses and records to substantiate Leon's claims.

Judge David delayed decision until he had time to consult several prominent rabbis. They agreed that under Jewish law Leon had forfeited his rights of worship.

"I will not bring shame on the tribe of Aaron," Judge David said. "Though under the laws of this state you have almost no claim, I will sign the order."

Unreasonable Freight Rates.

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—Freight rates in carload lots of peaches from Georgia, North Carolina to Schenectady, N. Y., and a number of other points in New York state today were held to be unreasonable by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—The stock market apparently recovered from its money scare today, as aggressive bullish demonstrations were conducted in the rails and specialties. While little progress was made by such the oil, motors, steels and equipments there were few points of weakness. Pool operations provided the background for the advance, although several of the large commission houses reported an increasing odd lot business from small traders and investors.

The high rate of business and industrial activity was stressed by operators for the advance as the basis for their campaign. Considerable emphasis was laid on the steady increase in freight car loadings, which is construed as an indication that a large volume of goods is moving into consumption.

Today's dispatches from The Hague, indicating the Germans had balked on the allied agreement on reparations, was somewhat of a disappointment, although bankers privately expressed the opinion that the difficulties would be straightened out and the Young plan saved. There was little change in credit conditions, call money renewing at 9 per cent with indications that that rate would be maintained.

New York Central assumed the leadership of the rail group by climbing 9 points to a new top. Atchison climbed almost as much to a new high at 292¾. Pere Marquette soared 17½ points to a record top at 230 on a small turnover. Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, Lackawanna and Pennsylvania were among the dozen or so other issues to move into new high ground, the gains ranging from 2 to 6 points.

Air Reduction ran up 11 points to 210 and R. H. Macy jumped 8 to 235, both new high records. United States Industrial Alcohol, American Water Works, American Tobacco A, Columbian Carbon, United States Freight, General Gas and Electric A, Bristol Myers, Otis Steel and Corn Products also topped their previous high marks for the year.

At least 40 issues sold 4 or more points above yesterday's final quotations, the list including A. M. Byers, Warren Brothers, National Lead, National Biscuit, DuPont, Western Union and Goodyear Rubber.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city, branch office, Stuyvesant Hotel.

Radio Salesmen Found Guilty and Sentenced to Jail

Organizers of Fall Guys Radio Association Sentenced to 60 Days Each—Face Many Similar Charges—Interesting Story of a Radio Industry.

Michael Minilonica and Michael Sanders, both of New York city, who visited Kingston last Friday and organized the Fall Guys Radio Association which cost the various members from $19 to $20, were both found guilty of petit larceny by Judge Shufeldt in police court today and sentenced to sixty days each in the county jail. They were tried on the specific charge of selling a radio to Gerald Perry of Clinton avenue, who paid them $20 for the machine, on the understanding that he was obtaining an all electric set. The set that he bought, according to Robert Harder, the well-known radio dealer of North Front street, was worth fifty cents.

The trial occupied the entire attention of Judge Shufeldt today and was a lengthy one. The defendants were represented by Albert Y. Kuntz, an attorney from New York. One of the principal witnesses called by the two organizers was Manny Mont, who said he was the manager of the Wy-Mont Radio Company of Brooklyn and that his concern turned out the radios the organizers were selling. Just before Manny Mont was called as a witness at the trial he was placed under arrest by Detective John J. Coughlin of the Albany police department on a charge arising out of another radio transaction.

This morning police officers from Catskill and Saugerties also called at police headquarters, and it was said that the two Kingston organizers also organized branches of the Fall Guys Radio Association in those villages.

According to Perry's story he was at home at dinner last Friday when the door bell rang and Sanders asked him if he was not interested in purchasing a radio. Perry said that Sanders said it was a demonstration set and he would sell it to him for $20 and that it was all electric and all that was necessary was to plug into an electric socket. Perry said he already had a set and had bought the set from a friend.

Mr. Harder, the North Front street radio dealer, was also called as a witness and informed Attorney Chris J. Flanagan who represented Perry, that the cabinet itself was worth about 50 cents and that the works were valueless.

How the radios were manufactured or assembled was told on the witness stand by Manny Mont, who said he was the manager of the Wy-Mont Radio Company of 232 Bridge street, Brooklyn. They purchased the various parts which were assembled. He said that he had been engaged in the radio business for the past ten years and during that time had assembled from 10,000 to 15,000 machines.

Of the particular make sold to Perry he had assembled some 1,600. He claimed that it cost the company about $5 to assemble such a set as Perry bought and that they sold at wholesale for $7 to $8.

Sell To Carnivals Too.

Mr. Mont said the set was similar to that sold to carnivals where they are put up as prizes on the various wheels operated on carnival grounds.

He said that he had purchased some cabinets for as low as 25 cents each, but that was not the R. C. A. cabinet that housed the Perry set. How much he paid for that cabinet was not brought out.

Had Supplied Organizers.

Mr. Mont said that his company had sold to Minilonica and Sanders the sets they sold in Kingston last Friday.

Not Electrical Sets.

Mr. Mont said that the set bought by Perry was not an electrical set but a battery set and was so marked. All of the sets turned out by the Wy-Mont Company were battery sets. They had no particular name for the sets which he said were known simply as "battery set in RCA cabinet."

Not in Albany in Years.

In reply to questions by Mr. Flanagan, Mont said he had not been in Albany in four or five years, and had never sold any radio sets except at the company's office in Brooklyn and that they sold only to the wholesale trade.

Said He Paid $8

Sanders when called as a witness said that he worked for the other Michael, and that Minilonica had paid the Wy-Mont Company $8 for the set that he had sold Perry for $20. Sanders said that they sold the sets for as much as they could get and refused no offer that left them with a profit.

To Make Appeal

When both organizers were found guilty and sentenced their attorney moved for a stay of judgment for ten days to give him a chance to prepare an appeal. He was told that it would be necessary for him to apply to a higher court for a stay in the sentence.

Many Other Charges

There are at least eight other similar charges lodged against the two organizers. The only charge disposed of today was that of Perry.

Our Growing Population.

Hard to Picture Orient Without the Date Tree

For untold ages the date has been a staple article of diet in the Orient. It is said that a half-pound of dates and a half-pint of milk make a sufficient meal for a person of sedentary habits. The date needs milk to round out its food balance. An intensely hot climate and plenty of water are necessary for the production of dates. As an old Arabian saying goes: "A date palm must have its head in fire and its feet in water." Some believe that when Adam and Eve lived in the Garden of Eden, they subsisted very largely upon the date. In fact, that part of Mesopotamia which produces to this day the best dates is regarded as the probable site of the Garden of Eden. Archeologists, in making excavations in this region, have uncovered ruins thousands of years old, among which have been found broken sculptures of the date palm, together with references to the use of its fruit as a food. According to an old, old Arabian story, after God had created Adam, some of the soil clung to His hands and He molded it into a date palm. The leaves were set in a feathery crown at the top the same as He created man. So it is only natural that the palm should be as nearly perfect a tree as Adam was a human being.

That old question, "Is marriage a failure?" has lost sentimental significance. The answer now depends on the amount of money that can be collected.

King Zogu of Albania is suffering from stomach trouble. He ought to take some of his own medicine, for his name looks like a dyspepsia cure trade mark.

Splendors revealed by ancient tombs give evidence that taxpayers, even in the remote past, had difficulty in impressing the importance of economy in government.

A desk chair in a government office may imply comparative ease. A seat on the New York Stock exchange suggests no repose sufficient to justify the high cost of Wall street furniture.

The question which arises, as soon as the attic has been reclaimed and made livable as per directions in the numerous helpful magazine articles, is where to put the stuff that was in the attic.

A woman member of parliament lost her opportunity to speak in a recent debate because she violated custom by not wearing a hat. British lawmakers are supposed to talk through their hats.

As Richter Saw Things

Except by name, Jean Paul Friedrich Richter is little known out of Germany. The only thing connected with him, we think, that has reached this country is his saying, imported by Madame de Stael and thankfully pocketed by most newspaper critics—"Providence has given to the French the empire of the land; to the English, that of the sea; to the Germans that of the air!"—Thomas Carlyle (1827), "Richter" in the Edinburgh Review.

ORVILLE H. PEETS HAS FINE EXHIBITION

(By F. Gardner Clough.)

At the weeks' showing at the Jones Little Gallery in Woodstock there is assembled as fine a show of paintings and etchings as has ever been offered to the public in Woodstock; it is the work of Orville H. Peets, a Woodstock artist who has spent a number of years in Portugal and other South American countries.

Mr. Peets has won high laurels for his etchings; he is represented in the Hispanic Museum in New York city, and in other established museums in the country. His etchings on display this week include various plate mediums; he has perfected a several color plate process that astonishes other artists. Among the etchings in this exhibition are "The Water Carrier," "Olive Trees," "Rondout, No. 1," "A Catskill Vendoo," "Cork Oaks," and "Portugese Sculptor." In his etchings, this artist has achieved a strength, a vigor, a sensitivity of subject selection that few artists achieve.

The astonishing versatility of the artist is shown in the oil paintings in this exhibition. There are two local subjects, "The Winter Road," and "Magee's Barns," both snowscapes with crisp treatment of snow, shadows and buildings.

Another painting is "Oporto," an old city of Portugal, a city on a hill; boats are in the bay; in this expansive composition there is a subtlety of detail and a gradation of lights that is perfect.

"Nazare Fisherman" is a ten ton boat being pushed out from shore by shoremen dressed in colorful woolen clothes; rocks on a shore add a fine touch to the canvas. The honesty and frankness of Mr. Peets's landscape portraiture is evident. There is something quite romantic about the exquisite structure of this artist's paintings. There is nothing ordinary about his paintings, for even though he works in what some might call the conservative manner, his talent and originality have stamped his pictures as works conceived by a genuine artist. It is difficult to say just what it is that stamps one artist's paintings as having a wider appeal than another's; whatever it is, Mr. Peets has given this universality-note to his work.

The exhibition is being held at the Jones Little Gallery for the remainder of this week. The Jones Gallery is located near the Bearsville exit of Woodstock village. The second day of the Peets exhibit two of the oil paintings were purchased by delighted visitors.

WOODSTOCK PLAYHOUSE DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

The Woodstock Playhouse drew the largest crowd of its season on Sunday night when a benefit musical revue was given. Many people accepted standing room, and two hundred were turned away from the box office.

Those who were admitted enjoyed the largest bill of music, dancing and vaudeville ever given at Woodstock.

There was Margaret McKee, Roxy whistling star known to radio audiences. Popular numbers with orchestration, and bird imitations were given. Lee Morse, the blues singer of Keith's circuit, captivated the audience, which applauded for encore after encore. Pierre Henrotte played a violin solo. There were the Pollocks, a pair of entertainers who kept things lively. Alexis Kosloff introduced his ballet with spectacular settings and specialty numbers.

The entertainment lasted until nearly midnight, and the audience was in a high mood with the spirit of the actors who contributed much toward the benefit performance. Ralph Patterson, David Reasoner, Alexis Kosloff and Pierre Henrotte were all congratulated on the success of their revue.

On Tuesday night, at the music concert given at the Playhouse, Jan Williams, clarinetist from New York city, was the guest performer. In a quintet, the musicians played from Mozart and delighted the audience.

A feature of the evening's program was the presentation of compositions by Frederick Hunt, a young Woodstocker. Mr. Henrotte introduced the number by saying that it was the purpose of the Woodstock Ensemble to play music by Woodstock composers, and that he had to offer compositions by a young lad whose work has attracted his attention. The Hunt selections were played by a stringed quartet; this composer offered sober, well-arranged concerto in three movements. His music possessed mature organization, pleasing movements. The audience applauded roundly for this number, and stayed after the program to congratulate the youthful musician.

In the Tuesday night concert there appeared Pierre Henrotte and Gerald Kunz with violins, Paul Lemay with viola and Aaron Bodenhorn with cello. The clarinetist, Jan Williams, added fine flavor to the Mozart quintet. Altogether it was an ensemble that even excelled its previous performances. Mr. Henrotte announced that on Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, there will be a music recital at the Playhouse with a metropolitan pianist and vocalist as visiting musicians on the program.

Fallon today signed an order releasing Mayor Frank Hague from technical arrest, made June 24, and discharging $1,000 bail which was furnished for the mayor June 25, pending the determination of his habeas corpus action before the vice chancellor. Today's order, prepared by Thomas J. Brogan, counsel of record for the mayor, who is Democratic state leader, in his legal battle with the Republican legislature over his refusal to reveal the sources of his wealth, was in accordance with the opinion filed by Mr. Fallon in Trenton yesterday, wherein he again held that the arrest of the mayor was illegal and void.

226 POUND SWORDFISH PIERCES LAUNCH PLANKING.

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Cal., Aug. 28 (AP).—The sword of a big swordfish, piercing the planking of the fishing launch Chappie, remained here today as evidence of a furious battle between the fish and a fisherman, ending in victory for the latter.

The battle started when the fisherman, W. G. Peterson, of Los Angeles, hooked the swordfish. Infuriated, the fish charged the launch, rammed his sword through the gunwale and up through the deck. The fish gave a lunge which nearly overturned the launch and which broke his sword-like nose off short.

Peterson gaffed the fish with the aid of the launch captain. It weighed 226 pounds.

Tagging Major League Bases

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cubs of 1929 are not going to win 116 ball games, but nevertheless they retain a chance to equal or improve upon another feat performed by their illustrious predecessors of twenty-three years ago. The Cubs of the late Frank Chance in 1906 not only won 116 victories, but rested twenty games ahead of the runner-up Giants at the finish. This mark, second only to Pittsburgh's twenty-seven and one-half game victory over Brooklyn in 1902, remains in danger before the rush of Joe McCarthy's fast-flying team.

After cuffing the Reds again yesterday by 4 to 1 as the Pirates curtsied humbly before the Phillies by 7 to 4, the Cubs rested fourteen and one-half games to the good, eager to increase the edge in the five-game series which opens at Pittsburgh today with a double-header. No other team in the National League has enjoyed such a lead at this stage of the race since those earlier Cubs of Chance ran wild in 1906; no other team in the league has had such an edge at any point along the trail since John McGraw's 1912 champions piled up a large early margin only to see it wither.

A continuation through the stretch of the results of the last five weeks could give the Cubs an ultimate lead of twenty games or more, and most likely would land them in the .700 class, achieved by no National League winner since the Pirates of 1909 reached .724 with 110 victories. The Cubs needs twenty-six out of thirty-five to gain 108 triumphs and .701.

Despite cool breezes blowing in from the lake, 25,000 fans visited Wrigley Field yesterday to see the Bruins make it three out of four from the Reds. Sheriff Fred Blake found the chill wind no handicap, limiting the visitors to six safe blows. Curtis Walker's homer in the fourth gave the Reds their only run. Rogers Hornsby directed the attack against Luque and Donohue with three singles and a double, and figured in every scoring rally.

The triumph of the Phillies was the second major league victory of young Harry Smythe, the Asheville, N. C., southpaw, who made his first start. His earlier winning effort also was at the expense of the Pirates on their recent and longer visit to Baker Bowl. The Phils crowded all of their seven runs into one inning, the seventh.

George William Pipgras entertained 20,000 Yankees clients and gave Cornelius McGillicuddy an uncomfortable afternoon by holding the Athletics to three hits yesterday as the champions nosed out the leaders by 2 to 0. Pipgras made as if to pitch a no-hit game, allowing no safeties until the eighth when Simmons and Miller singled. Cochrane tripled in the ninth, but died trying for a homer.

An error by Boley gave the Yanks their first run, but they earned the second on a pass and two singles. George Earnshaw permitted only six safeties before retiring to permit Lebourveau to bat for him in the eighth. Bob Grove closed out the final inning without incident.

Babe Ruth retired after striking out in the first inning. He was suffering from a heavy cold in his back muscles, but expected to take another fling today.

Washington and Boston, star eastern performers in the recent western invasion by the seaboard clubs of the American League, hacked away at each other for fourteen innings, with the Senators finally winning by 5 to 4.

Only four games were played in the major leagues yesterday, and only the same number, two in the Pittsburgh double-header, were on the schedule today.

Industrial Series Starts Tuesday

The opening game of the Industrial Baseball League series will be played Tuesday, September 3, at the Athletic Field. Due to the early darkness it will be necessary to start the game at 5 o'clock sharp in order to play seven innings. Both teams—the Hercules, winners of the first half, and the Gascos, victors in the second half—are ready for the series. Ken Best most likely will be the pitching choice of the Hercules in the opening game. The Gascos have two southpaws, Walt Black and Jimmy Doyle, to start the opening contest, with the former the favorite.

Rondouts Booked For Labor Day

The Silver and Gold team from Poughkeepsie is booked to play the Rondout A. C. at the Kingston Fair Grounds Labor Day. This Bridge City team has a good reputation having trimmed some of the best clubs in the Hudson Valley. The local nine has a tough assignment but they have proved themselves well able to take care of these crack teams in previous battles.

"Cracky" Holden, old-time pitching star is expected to do the hurling for the visitors. Besides a few veterans the Poughkeepsie squad has some of the down river town's best ball players. The Silver and Gold team is scheduled to meet Freddie Dahn's club Sunday in the first game of a series to decide the city championship.

LEGION'S WORLD SERIES ON RADIO

Will Broadcast Games Play by Play in Big Hook-Up.

Dan Sowers, national director of the junior baseball program of the American Legion which this year has enrolled more than 300,000 boys, has been informed by John W. Elwood of New York, vice president of the National Broadcasting company, that the Legion's world series to be played in Louisville, Ky., September 4, 5 and 6, will be broadcast play by by play in a national hook-up, direct from the grand stand.

Graham McNamee, the famous sport announcer, will do the broadcasting. Arrangements also are being made for Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, to address the youth of the country preceding the games.

"The Legion's baseball competition has taken its place in interest nationally along with other sports which attract universal interest," Sowers said. "Not only will 300,000 boys throughout the country be vitally interested in the world series, but also their relatives, friends, and the many varied organizations which are represented by teams they sponsor in the program.

"In some of the larger communities, organizations other than the Legion have entered the Legion program by sponsoring leagues of boys' teams, and their championship team in the final analysis, has been in competition for city, county, district or higher honors, all under Legion supervision."

Director Dan Sowers.

The national tournaments to decide the two teams which will play in the world series begin the first week in August. These are the regional tournaments, six west of the Mississippi and six east. Each team in the regional tournaments is the championship team of a state. The regional champion teams then play in two sectional tournaments, and it is the two sectional champion teams which participate in the world series to be held in Louisville.

Von Elm, Tolley Top Challengers For Bobby's U. S. Amateur Crown

Bobby Jones is having such a good year that it's hard to give the field, lining up for the national amateur at Pebble Beach, much of a chance. If Bobby does crack, George Von Elm and Cyril Tolley are expected to be among those ready to take advantage of the opening.

Del Monte, Cal., (AP).—Unless either George Von Elm or Cyril Tolley step out to crowd Bobby Jones at the national amateur here September 2-7, the prophets are going to be disappointed.

Von Elm, who beat out Bobby in the final of the 1926 championship, has been playing great golf all summer and the stirring 70 he shot at Winged Foot on the second day of the 1929 open put him right up in front among the contenders.

Tolley, who is the British champion, naturally is the British hope. The foreign star is great on driving. He twice has won the British amateur and the French open and has represented England five times in international competition.

Tolley is one of two European champions seeking the Atlanta lawyer's crown. The other is Jack Westland, wearer of the French amateur diadem, although he is an American.

Former champions who will unlimber their clubs are Chandler Egan, Francis Ouimet, W. C. Fownes, Jr., Chick Evans, Jess W. Sweetser, Jesse Guilford and George Van Elm.

The Pebble Beach course, the scene of this year's championship, is laid along the ocean and, the experts say, "is one tough course."

The famous No. 8 hole will wreck the hopes of many. Here is a description of it:

Ordinarily two long shots are needed to reach the green. Rather an abrupt hill necessitates the player raising his tee shot to gain the proper position at the top. From the shortest point of the dog leg 130 yards of ocean must be carried to reach the well trapped green.

The banks are precipitous, 75 feet of the water, creating one of the greatest mental hazards to be found. The slope of the ground near the green towards the ocean is apt to influence the player towards the dangerous edge of the cliffs.

This second shot can be anything from a full brassie to a full mashie, depending on weather conditions. Here, as on six other holes, the sandy beaches of the ocean offer spectacular opportunities for great recovery shots. The incentive is strong to hazard a recovery in these treacherous lies with the result that many a good medal score is utterly ruined. Par, 4; dstance, 425 yards.

Pans-Ams Play Bushwicks Twice

The Pan-Ams will play the Saugerties Bushwicks one game on Sunday and another on Labor Day. Both contests will be staged on the Saugerties diamond. These teams are well matched and play a fine brand of baseball. They have met twice in the earlier part of the season and have each taken one game. Johnny Carpenter, Walt Black and Johnny Caluch will be ready to do mound duty for the Pan-Ams.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

When Kiki Cuyler was with Pittsburgh, one of the sources of his disputes with the Pirate management was over his position in the batting order. Kiki thought he was better off in third place but Donie Bush figured otherwise and made a shift.

Now Cuyler is batting fifth in the Cub list and playing one of the best games of his career. There is no debate on the subject whatever, so long as Joe McCarthy is running the Wrigley machine.

Hornsby was batting fourth in the line-up until around the middle of July but the climb of the Cubs began after McCarthy made the switch which placed Hornsby third and Hack Wilson in the clean-up position.

It will be one of the odd sights of the year to see an old major league third baseman, a former world's tennis champion, a pole vaulter and his coach all trying to crowd into the amateur golf championship picture at Del Monte the first week of September. Art (Tilly) Shafer, who played for the New York Giants in the 1912-13 world's series; Maurice McLoughlin, tennis king in the same seasons; Ward Edmonds and R. L. (Dink) Templeton of Stanford's track forces are now stars of the brassie battalion.

Chuck Klein, the Phillie flogger, must make a strong finish if he hopes to crack the National League home run record that Hornsby set at 42. After collecting ten circuit blows in the last two weeks of July, to shoot his total up to 33, Klein failed to put even one out of the park during the next two weeks as he struck a slump.

Even with the Frenchmen missing after winning the title three straight times, it is no part of a lead-pipe cinch that Big Bill Tilden will recapture the American tennis crown at Forest Hills in September; not with such daring youngsters as John Doeg, Fritz Mercur, John Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison, George Lott and others "shooting the works." Van Ryn gave Tilden a tussle as long ago as 1926, the year Big Bill lost the championship. It will take all the old master's craft to repel the impetuous rush of youth.

Not even the Army knew where Red Cagle was going to toss a lot of his passes last season, until the Louisiana flash let 'em go, so you can figure what chance the opposition has of diagnosing his intentions.

Too Cold For Marathon.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 28 (AP).—The fourth annual Wrigley marathon swim, scheduled for today, was postponed until tomorrow when a cold wind sent the temperature of the water in Lake Ontario four degrees below the required minimum of 58 degrees. Meantime 275 swimmers, nerves on edge, wait anxiously for the long grind to start.

Who Will Fight Kid Chocolate?

This is to be decided in the bout between Tony Leto and Tommy Rivetti at the Kingston Fair Grounds Friday night. The winner of this 10-round main go will meet the famous Kid Chocolate in about three weeks' time. Jess McMahon, the former match-maker of fights in Madison Square Garden and now big fight promoter in New York city, will witness the bout.

The fans who have often wished to see a match between two contenders of some world's boxing crown will have their opportunity this Friday at the ball park. This match was to be staged in New York but it was finally decided to hold it here.

Tommy Rivetti was already scheduled to fight Kid Chocolate but McMahon feeling that Leto equally deserved the chance, matched them. Rivetti from New York has fought in that city and defeated many good opponents and has established a wonderful reputation for himself.

On the other hand Tony Leto from Tampa, Florida, who came north about a year ago with Manuel Quintero, Rufino Alverez and Joe Pino, has a reputation which took him three years to establish. Leto has been defeated but twice when he first started out in the boxing game.

Teddy Siedman will meet San Sanchez in the semi-final ten round bout. Both these men have fought here before and won their battles. San Sanchez, after going to the top of the list in his class in the boxing world in Mexico, came to the states and so far has met with success. Teddy Siedman gave Benny Brostoff of New York a little set back when he was awarded the decision after a fight here a short time ago.

The bouts supporting these are two six rounders in which Ruby Greenburg, New York, vs. Harry Oberman of New York; Nick Fexon of Greece, vs. Armando Alvarez of Cuba; one four rounder, Mannie Flores, New York, vs. Jack De Massimo of Italy.

AIM TO SPEED UP BALL GAMES MORE

National League Umpires Urging the Players On.

For several years the National league had figures to show that games in that circuit were played faster than contests in the American league, but it is doubtful if the complete statistics this season will show the older outfit to be snappier in the matter of doing their work and having it over with.

National league umpires do far more barking at players to get them to hasten through their exercises than do the American league officials, but there are certain things that tend to prolong National league games which are not tolerated in the American league.

A National league partisan might argue there is much more hitting in the parent circuit, and hitting, of course, slows up a game, writes Edward Burns in the Chicago Tribune. Taken by and large, however, it is not probable that this phase of the matter is greatly different in the two majors.

To one switching from the observation of a half season play in one league to regular attendance of games in the other league, the difference is apparent.

One factor alone that is said to make a difference of many minutes in a National and an American league game is the practice in the National league of throwing the ball around the infield after each putout and frequently after a new ball is put in the game. In the American league, this bit of horseplay is not tolerated. There are catchers who throw to the third baseman after a strikeout, but the third baseman tosses it to the pitcher and the game is resumed.

Another big difference is found in the practice of National league batters who seek to annoy the pitchers by jumping out of the batters' box repeatedly, ostensibly to rub dust on their bats. This is not tolerated in the American league. A batter is not allowed to step from the box except for legitimate reasons, such as to remove a flying particle from the eye, to permit a mate to touch up after a foul or some similar reason not intended to upset an anxious pitcher.

Guy Bush.

Players in both leagues beseech pitchers who are in trouble to "take their time" and this delay in many instances seems justified.

Guy Bush, leading pitcher of the Chicago Cubs, says that it annoys him to have the infield swarm about him in an effort to slow him up, but there are many pitchers who are helped by this interference from their mates. Pat Malone, another Cub star, is of the type that breaks out in a rash when he's in trouble and scarcely can wait to get his hands on the ball after each pitch.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Aug. 28 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets.)—The wholesale market was slightly improved on fancy apples. Receipts from the Hudson valley were moderate and the demand a trifle more active. Apples of medium to small size and unattractive in quality received scant attention. Green apples in bushel baskets, 2½ inch and upward of the U. S. No. 1 pack, wholesaled at $2-$2.50. Red varieties realized $1.50-$3.

Last week this state, the Virginias, Arkansas and California were the principal shipping states. The combined movement increased to 500 cars. Two cars moved from eastern states to every car from the west.

Damson plums are gradually becoming more plentiful. The demand, however, was again very poor. Sales on four-quart baskets were reported at 25 to 50 cents.

Attractive pears of large size met a ready sale in a steady market. Arrivals were light. The finest No. 1 state Bartlett and Clapp's Favorite pears changed hands at $3 a bushel basket. Seckles, however, commanded $4.25. California and Oregon baskets sold recently at auction from Bartlett pears packed in bushel $3-$4.25. Anjous brought $3.25-$3.50 and Clairgeaus $2.20-$2.55.

Early grapes are steadily increasing from the lower Hudson valley. The outlet continued very limited and in consequence values tended downward. Blue, red and white grapes peddled out from 40 to 75 cents a 12-quart basket. White table grapes from California sold at $1.05 to $1.75 per crate of 24 pounds. Red grapes brought $1.95-$2.35.

Grape shipments showed a considerable gain. The previous week's total of 1,290 cars, however, was still 500 less than a year ago. California forwarded 1,341 cars.

The carlot movement of peaches for the whole country during the past week decreased to 3,760 cars. This compared with 4,490 the week before and 4,260 a year ago. Peaches on the market were somewhat firmer today.

Early Electric Railway

The first attempt to build an electric railway of which there is any record was made by Thomas Davenport in 1835. There were many experiments of this kind, but it was not until 1870 that what may be called the first working electric railway of full size was constructed.

GIRL PLAYS CUPID AND EARNS $2.50

Finds Occupation Not Remunerative in Paris.

Paris.—In spite of the hectic, hard-boiled kind of life that Paris is pictured as living, romance is not altogether dead in the city on the banks of the Seine.

Some one who can prove this is a certain young American girl. She isn't the heroine of the story. Instead, she played the part of cupid.

In recounting the affair the French newspapers refer to her as Miss X. She arrived in Paris with no clear idea of what she could do, until some one suggested she become a guide for select young ladies. Now guides for young ladies select and otherwise are as numerous as the fishes in the ocean; the idea seemed good to her.

The girl inserted an advertisement in English in the French and English language newspapers in Paris and sat down to wait for answers. One came. It was from an automobile mechanic in New York.

"Dear Miss," he wrote: "I don't want to be guided about Paris, but there is a girl I met over there in Paris towards the end of the war that I should like to know about now. She was so beautiful her face haunts me still—"

He couldn't remember her name, but he had her last address. He recalled, too, that she played the violin. The girl went to the address indicated in the Avenue Jean Jaures, traced the little French sweetheart of the American doughboy, and hurried back to write a letter to him to tell him so.

More letters passed and in one of them the boy in New York asked Miss X to propose for him, which she did. A few weeks later mademoiselle and her mother sailed for New York. And still later came a final letter for Miss X. It contained a check from the bridegroom for two dollars and a half.

Since even people who act cupid must live on something, the American girl is now back home.

Build Dugout on Rich Lot; Live on in Luxury

San Francisco.—Habits of "dugout" dwelling in France proved an inspiration to Frank Schroeder and Frank Madero, who a year ago constructed a bit of "front line trench" in the heart of San Francisco's business district. The men were "broke" and the fact that the vacant lot they chose was valued at $100,000 didn't matter to the veterans, who sought assurance of a regular place to live.

Among other things the pair made the lot, formerly an unsightly place, a flower garden and repository of beautiful shrubbery. Because of the improved appearance no one objected. As the weeks sped by the cave improved in appearance. Flowers and shrubs concealed most of it, and enlargements were made. Telephone service was installed about eight months ago, and with prosperity came a radio and other comforts of home.

Schroeder and Madero boast of being the only "cavemen in San Francisco," as well as possessing the distinction of having "squatted" on $100,000 worth of property and gotten away with it.

Scientists who talk of inventing a new religion do not accurately represent true science which studies facts and accepts Faith as one of them.

Scientists tell us that women's feet have grown two sizes larger in the past 20 years. Possibly he guesses at it because they are more outstanding.

Pictures by wireless have been sent out to a ship at sea. This would seem to be only a fair reprisal for the souvenir cards sent back by tourists.

With the 156th At Pine Camp

Kingston Horsemen Among the Best—All-Around Benefits from Training—Two Late Arrivals—Boxing Stable Easy.

Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 28.—After a fine night's sleep, tucked beneath six army blankets, in the cool and refreshing air of this locality, the Kingston members of the 156th Field Artillery arose at 5:20 a. m. today for their second day of summer training. The boys were hale and hearty, ready to tackle the most difficult problem set before them, but the schedule was a light one.

Reveille was answered at 5:40 and the soldiers then went to the picket lines to care for their horses. Mess call sounded at 6 o'clock and all laid in a hearty breakfast of cereal, bacon and eggs and whatever delicacies were offered by the cooks, who are making a big hit with the boys. Some of the finest meals ever served at Pine Camp are being put up for the Kingston men.

Sick call was in order at 6:30, but none of the Kingston outfit had to report to the infirmary. The soldiers went to the gun park to get their field pieces in readiness for Wednesday when actual firing will take place. The local boys did the job with such speed and accuracy that their efforts should make their task on Tuesday a light one. The Kingston cannoneers have been complimented for their good work.

Those who did not have to work on the guns went to the stables to groom their horses and adjust harness. It is said that the Kingston soldiers are among the best horsemen that attend the annual summer training period at Pine Camp.

At noon the men enjoyed a very good dinner. It was digested by virtue of a nice long ride in the afternoon, when the artillery horses were driven about two miles so that the men could get accustomed to riding gradually. It is a well known fact that too long a ride on the first trip is no great enjoyment to a soldier or any other horseman, and as Major Hiltebrant is very careful of his men's well being, he made the trip a short one.

The men and horses drove into camp from the range at 3 o'clock. The mounts were groomed, guns cleaned and preparation made for evening parade. At this function the soldiers are led by the 156th Field Artillery Band that favors the boys with a concert every night. Supper consisted of a real hearty meal that just touched the spot. There is plenty of good food at Pine Camp and no one need go hungry for the cooks are generous in serving the mess and if a second portion is called for it is handed out readily.

Not alone are the men satisfied with their meals, but enjoy doing their daily tasks under the considerate officers in command. Soldiers adapted to certain kinds of work do that sort and in this way harmony prevails. This is one reason why the Kingston outfits accomplish so much each year and generally outdo military units from other places.

Kingston officers in command are as follows. Major O. R. Hiltebrant; Captain C. N. Behrens, adjutant; First Lieutenant B. V. Roach, acting commander, and Second Lieutenant E. A. Steuding, combat train; Captain E. L. Cashin, First Lieutenant H. A. Peale, Second Lieutenant I. Lawrence, Battery A; Captain E. C. Lawson, Second Lieutenant Paul Barnum and Second Lieutenant Carlton Eckert, Battery B. Second Lieutenant Salsbury is range officer, commanding the men who have charge of equipping the camp with telephone connections.

The camp also has its own radio station. Messages can be broadcast or received. A Newburgh battery has charge of this equipment, which was assembled by the boys under the supervision of Instructing Sergeant John Gibney. This morning the station received a full report of the Graf Zeppelin landing broadcast by a California station.

Summer training at Pine Camp offers great opportunities for advancement of one's education. All things taught are of a practical value and of use in every-day life. The Kingston boys who are now in training say that they would not miss the trip for any reason and wish that more of their friends would take advantage of the wonderful benefits National Guard training offers.

The pugilists at camp, who do considerable fighting in the armory during the winter under the guidance of Captain E. C. Lawson, athletic officer, were glad to receive the news this morning that Big Bill Freeman, heavyweight champion of the National Guard, had been successful in his fight with Rufino Alverez at the Fair Grounds in Kingston last Saturday. Charley Fisher and Corporal John Bechtold, who did not arrive at camp until this morning owing to an excusable delay, brought the glad word.

Nick Zinna, Johnny Carpino, Joe Vosdick, Roy VanBuren, Frenchy Duwig, One-Punch Pete Buckman and Joe Werner are among the boxers in camp who are working themselves into shape for some bouts to start in the armory as soon as the Kingston outfits get home.

Seed 160 Acres in 100 Minutes.

Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 28 (AP).—Traveling at the rate of 95 miles an hour, an airplane piloted by R. C. Graham, seeded 150 acres of land on Lummi Island yesterday in an hour and forty minutes. Graham was assisted by W. A. Granger, owner of the land, who dropped the seed from a sack in a six-inch stream through a door in the cockpit, using about 800 pounds of seed. The plane flew about 500 feet above ground. The quarter section was seeded with alfalfa, timothy, clover and orchard grass.

MOTHER RABBIT FIGHTS SIX MEN FOR HER BABY

Yellowstone Traveler Tells of Cottontail's Gallant Grit.

Yellowstone Park, Wyo.—Yellowstone National park offers the season's best rabbit yarn—incredible, yet solemnly attested to by six good men and true.

Park Ranger Fred T. Johnston tells it:

"It was late in June. Six of us were traveling in and on top of a truckload of beds and supplies over a road evidently seldom used.

"During our journey we overtook a very young jack rabbit—in fact, one so young that it barely had its eyes open. He was exerting every effort, however, to scramble out of the rut he was in, but seeing that he was bound to fail we stopped to assist him.

"Our intentions were undoubtedly misunderstood, because as soon as he was picked up he squealed as only a scared rabbit can squeal, but he accomplished his purpose. It's hard to believe that a rabbit would attack six men, but by the word of the six who were attacked that's just what happened.

Leaps at Bunny's Captor.

"The young rabbit 'knew his squealing' and so did his mother, or at least we gave the rabbit that came galloping out of the brush the credit of being his mother. And galloping is the word to express her progress in our direction on the second squeal from her complaining offspring.

"She appeared from a distance of a hundred yards or so away and was standing in the center of a circular group we had formed before any of us could realize the truth of what we saw. I was truly thankful that I was not the one who was holding the infant rabbit. There she stood among the aforesaid six of us, eyeing every one with bulging eyes that meant only one thing—rage. She was poised on her hindlegs at the very feet of her infant's captor, apparently ready to spring at his face.

Eyeing Every One With Bulging Eyes.

Young Rabbit Saves Day.

"Speech was impossible and how long we stood there dumfounded none of us attempted to say. I actually believe the young rabbit saved the situation because his squealing stopped with the appearance of his mother, and she finally hopped off a short distance and waited. This fact was not to be misunderstood, so the young rabbit was released immediately and left to the very capable and astonishing protection of his mother.

"To be attacked by a bear when molesting her young is natural, but a rabbit—well, even a bear seldom attacks six men."

Puts Up His Cork Leg to Pay Sweetie's Fine

Johnson City, Tenn.—Police Judge Barton is beginning to think that deal he made in court the other day was not such a good bargain.

Judge Barton has on hand one cork leg. He accepted it as security for a $25 fine imposed upon the girl friend of a one-legged man. The one-legged gentleman hadn't the $25, but he pulled off his leg and handed it to the court.

Judge Barton has not gone so far as to hope some policeman loses a leg, but otherwise he can't see how the commonwealth can get its $25 worth.

Boy Swallows Pin, Laughs, Coughs It Up

Honolulu.—Thirteen-year-old Solomon Kahoohalahala, of the Kalihi Boys' home is a lucky laugher. After he had put a pin in his mouth and accidentally swallowed it, his teacher took him into the emergency hospital headquarters. While Solomon sat in the operating room, Police Surgeon Robert B. Faus made a more or less witty remark. The boy laughed, choked and coughed up the pin.

Bride Collapses

Cincinnati.—After the minister pronounced the words which made her the wife of Boyd Thompson, Miss Betty Smedley fainted. She was unable to leave the house for several hours after the ceremony. The honeymoon was delayed.

Icebergs' Graveyard

After the icebergs get out of the Labrador current disintegration goes on naturally and more and more rapidly until the bergs finally disappear about 400 miles south of Nova Scotia. This region is called the "graveyard of the iceberg."

Road Torn Up At Marlborough

Travel over the main highway from Marlborough south to the Orange county line is a rather disappointing pleasure at present. Construction on the new highway is under way and a number of bad spots are caused by the construction of culverts and bridges. Short bypasses through the fields around the construction are rough. At Middlehope there are some particularly rough spots. In going to Newburgh the construction can be avoided by taking the Plattekill road from Modena.

Enthusiasm loses its value when it develops into recklessness.
